How do we know him? Let us count the ways.
Some know him as inspiring teacher of all
Literature from Beowulf to Eliot, and many may call Him devoted to ends of Achievement and Learning
Which Myers Park High School holds dear.
Some know him as advisor and friend,
Whose support and counsel to Interact Club
 he is eager to lend,
Upon whose guidance the annual staff can always depend.
Some know him as the most talented director of the musical Carousel
Whose untiring efforts command deep respect.
Some know him as a personal friend—
Genuine, understanding, progressive, sincere, enthusiastically loyal to the student's side.
And if we think of him in years to come,
We shall but remember him the more with pride.

We, the Senior Class, are proud to dedicate the 1969 Mustang to Mr. John Kiser.

"Look to This Day!

For it is Life, the very Life of Life.

In its brief Course lie all the Verities and Realities of your Existence:

*The Bliss of Growth
The Glory of Action,
The Splendour of Beauty;
For Yesterday is but a Dream
And Tomorrow is only a Vision;
But Today well-lived makes
Every Yesterday a Dream of Happiness,
And every Tomorrow a Vision of Hope.*

Look Well therefore to this Day!"

Taken from the Vedas

Our minds are moulded as the potter's clay.

From the mound of dust is fashioned

A vessel worthy to behold.

As water is added to a meaningless shape

So we by imaginative hands become

Perceptive

Humane.

What greater glory is there than the revolving wheel of action?

The cogs are oiled with

Endurance

Patience

And the whole is made perfect by the individual parts.

Near to each of us is the "Splendour of Beauty."

It abounds in sound and sight

And we create a special kind

It permeates our every life with joy.

STUDENT LIFE

CONNIE HARRIS
Student Life Editor

A Sophomore boy is posed for his annual picture; an ordeal each underclassman must endure.

Big Brother and Sister William Bennett and Betsy Bolen welcome the Sophomores of Mr. Jones's homeroom.

Myers Park Launches Into the 1968-1969 School Year

Committee chairmen Oliver Johnston and Lou Nachman speak at the Sophomore Assembly.

September 3, 1968. On this day, nearly two thousand students invade the silent halls of Myers Park. Newly painted classrooms feel the swell of student voices; lockers are once again slammed with the same fervor they have felt for seventeen years. Old friends, new teachers, battered textbooks, boisterous pep rallies—all add to the spirit of Fall in Mustangland.

Sophomores receive orientation with thrills, confusion, and concentration. A bevy of clubs await membership, upperclassmen often mistake the gym for the biology building, and high school teachers seem more closely related to college professors than to junior high instructors.

Juniors stride through the halls with one year of experience safely tucked under their belts. These students have already acquainted themselves with the various activities of Myers Park and are ready to begin anew. The mighty Senior is the epitome of sophistication: a seasoned veteran of two years. Seniors have weathered innumerable assemblies, term papers, quizzes, and committee meetings, and serve as advisors to the less experienced Mustangs. Only nine months more of additional labor lies ahead of the Senior before he is able to obtain his diploma, obviously making him the envy of all underclassmen. Together the three classes provide the service, enthusiasm, and experience necessary to Myers Park. Spirit has once again been injected into the veins of our school and another academic year is well under way.

Leading the daily migration from our campus, Harold Harkey returns to an afternoon of summer activities before mounting school work and cold weather prohibit such pastimes.

The debonair Gerald Colbert portrays the dashing duke of THE FATAL QUEST.

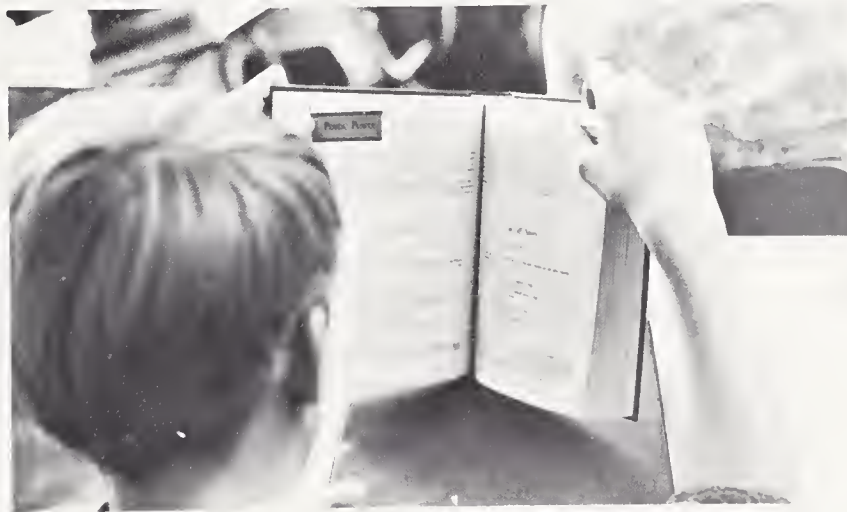

Performing during the halftime of a home game, the Myers Park Marching Band forms the "Mustang Monogram." This familiar insignia appears on cars, jackets, and notebooks and is as much a part of a student's life as his school books.

With More Enthusiasm, and More Unity Than Before

Each student must go through the routine procedure of height and weight measurement.

The practice of study must be renewed in the fall with the advent of new books, new teachers, new assignments, and new tests.

Early in the Fall, Dance Committee begins the preparations for the first dance of the year, Homecoming. King size comic strips are mass produced to adorn the cafeteria walls.

Forced to the sidelines by a knee injury, Tommy Land pensively watches his team.

The Arrival of Fall Sparks 'Stang

A comfortable position is assumed for the construction of dance decoration.

The Myers Park cogwheels grind onward into the year as the days grow windy, cold, and short. Students once again break into new textbooks and map out their daily route of class changes for the semester. Football games, assemblies, the Show Biz Revue, and the Barbeque add themselves to the list of student activities. Faculty and students combine their efforts to produce another outstanding year for Myers Park.

Parents follow a condensation of their child's schedule on "Back-to-School Night" to become better acquainted with the courses and teachers of their son or daughter. The PTA also sponsors the tremendously successful "Mustang Saturday." Parents and students alike spent many hours selling tickets, folding boxes, wrapping utensils, taking orders, cleaning tables, and providing entertainment for the Myers Park Barbe-

Sophomores were further inducted into the student body at the Orientation Assembly. The co-chairmen of the various committees extolled the activities of their committees in hopes of recruiting new members. The Sophomores were also introduced to Dr. Lewis, the counselors, and the student council officers.

The Show Biz Revue was issued in under the title of "Psychedelic Wonderland." A wide variety of talent was exhibited to the student body including solo singers and instrumentalists and even a group of hippies doing the Charleston. A bevy of senior girls "did their thing" in the Senior Girl Follies which certainly proved that Senior girls can at least dance. After three performances, the Revue closed after receiving top reviews.

Hard rock, soul sounds, and mood music are provided by students as entertainment at the Myers Park Barbeque.

A new technique in teaching is employed by Miss Whitaker—surprise tactics!

Parents search for the room number corresponding to their child's schedule card during the annual Back-to-School Night.

"Enthusiasm '69"

Jess Pittard and Mike Pool provide back-up music for the Show Biz Revue.

Hoppy Elliot plays Angel for the Day. "Hang in there, Hoppy."

The "Psychedelic Wonderland" brings out a myriad of talent, including the Charlotte chapter of the Rockettes for a guest appearance.

Parents also turn out to support "Mustang Saturday." Here PTA members package and serve barbeque to hungry students.

On the eve of the Myers Park-Olympic game, Sara Rion and Debby Wright pose atop their painted pick-up in their spirit clothes to show their Senior Girl spirit.

Fall Invades Myers Park Campus With Brisk Winds,

The Myers Park Publicity Committee sends its cheery greeting to the South football team by way of the cafeteria poster.

Cartoon characters invade the Myers Park Homecoming festivities in the early fall. Due to unalterable circumstances, the dance and the Homecoming game must be on separate weekends. Our varsity players peer at the dancers from the bodies of such personalities as Flash Gordon and Bugs Bunny. The following Friday night brings us the long awaited Homecoming game. What could be more appropriate than for the Homecoming court to be presented from the doors of Snoopy's dog house? The Senior Class presented Teahouse of the August Moon for their annual production. Here the student body sees their classmates transformed into black-haired, almond-eyed Okinawans. Teahouse depicts a small Waiting on the walls to greet the guests at the Homecoming Dance are Coleman Smith and Chip Holden alias Jughaid and Loweezy Smith.

The Foreign Exchange Assembly gives those students who went abroad and the foreign exchange students to Myers Park a chance to express their opinion of foreign travel.

Okinawan village where the United States government plans to execute a program of reform and where the villagers want to build a teahouse with the government's money. Students, restless from nearly three months of school, greet Thanksgiving with the usual enthusiasm expectant of the holidays it brings. Myers Park fully participates in the city-wide Carousel activities. Our cheerleaders accent one of the many beautiful floats as they escort it down the parade boulevard and the Myers Park Marching Band high steps its way over national television. Baxter Hutcheson is selected by the school to be the Carousel Princess and to represent MP at the Carousel Parade and Ball.

Gathered into a crowd, students are rapidly affected by the spirit which surges among them during a pep rally.

Drummers Richard Archer and Bobby Clawson wait for instructions during afternoon band practice.

Richard, Barry, Bill, and Robert transport themselves into the characters of an Okinawan village for the production of TEAHOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON.

Honors Received

Myers Park once again surpassed the other high schools of Charlotte in the field of scholarships, awards, and honors. The graduating class of 1969 possessed fifteen National Merit Semi-Finalists, the highest number of finalists in the county. These students took the National Merit tests in February of their junior year and were notified the following fall whether they had achieved the semi-finalist rank or not.

Each year the Senior class has the responsibility of selecting both the recipients of the Danforth Award and the boy and the girl to become Mr. and Miss Myers Park. The Danforth Award is presented on the basis of outstanding leadership. Mr. and Miss Myers Park are felt to exemplify the best attributes of a Mustang—Service, Dependability, and Loyalty.

Ann Wilson and Mike Morgan were the representatives to Girl's and Boy's State, respectively.

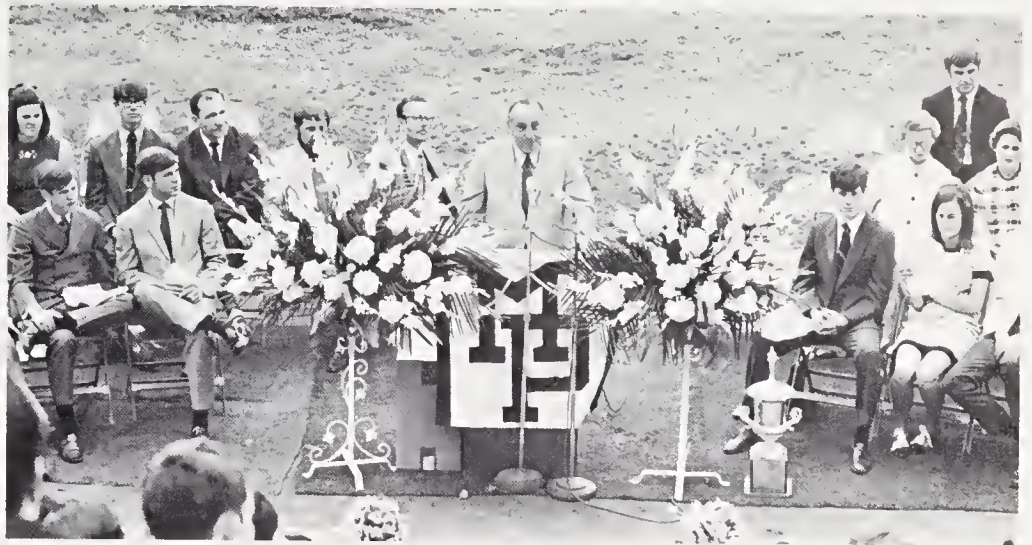

In a lighter moment, Tommy Campen and Baxter Hutcheson pose for their picture for Mr. and Miss Myers Park.

by Deserving Students for their Special Achievements

Other honors such as the DAR Award, the Harvard Book Award, and the Sewanee Award for Excellence are bestowed on our fellow Mustangs. To receive such recognition, a student must be well-rounded in civic and school affairs. He must also possess outstanding qualities of citizenship and leadership. Additional scholarships are granted to our classmates to several major colleges and universities. Awards are presented on the basis of scholarship, athletic achievement, and outstanding ability in the fine arts such as music, drama, and art. Quite obviously, Myers Park is leading the school system for honors and recognitions received.

Numerous awards and scholarships were announced at the annual Honors and Awards Assembly. Dr. Lewis recognized each individual for the honor they had received.

The following outstanding scholarships have been won: Deloris Collins, the Presidential; Bill Wilkerson, the Guy T. Carswell; Gerald Colbert, the Spencer Love; Les Brown, Engineering to N.C. State.

The Harvard Book Award was given to Tommy Campen at the 1968 Honors and Awards Assembly.

Dicky Corbett won both the Sewanee Award for Excellence and the Morehead Scholarship.

For their outstanding leadership qualities, Tommy Campen and Barbara Britt were selected to receive the Danforth Award.

Exciting, Retiring, 1968 Ebbs Away

Crisp fall days blend into the biting chill of winter causing students to don heavy coats, scarves, and boots. Casual walks with friends about the Myers Park campus are abandoned for indoor conversation. The Senior Lounge and the cafeteria take the place of the outdoor benches as places of congregation. Miss Phiher readies herself for the annual winter migration of students to the library in search of warmth. The general atmosphere contains more excited movement as students rush from building to building to avoid the cold outdoors. This hustle and bustle does not affect scholastic work; however, the mind does lag from continued indoor confinement. Snow days seem inevitable with heavy, grey clouds and prolonged cold spells but prayers for white drifts remain unanswered.

Nineteen sixty-eight is about to bow out; the school year is nearing the half-way mark. Anxious students patiently count the days until the long awaited Christmas vacation. Although the holidays are shortened this year, it does not shorten the anticipation the student body has culminated.

Both of the boy's service clubs presented projects to the Myers Park student body in December. The Key Club announced the beginning of "Key Club Week" on Monday, January ninth. Key Club members spent Dorothy Wood concentrates on push-buttons and programming for her first semester computer exam.

January, Leaving Ninety Days to Go

The New Year of 1969 begins with Myers Park gaining additional honors to its long list of accomplishments. On January 5, the Marching Band returned from their two day stand at the Orange Bowl festivities. The band appeared in the three mile Orange Bowl Parade and was the featured band at the Fireworks Festivities on Friday the third. After four months of practicing guiding right and watching their parallels, the band members more than welcomed the Miami vacation and the opportunity to show off their talents. January also brings us news of our Morehead finalist. Dicky Corbett was selected to receive this esteemed scholarship after a series of interviews and an examination of his school record.

Exams are a major part of a high school student's life. At the end of eighteen weeks, an exam is given in each academic subject. Authors, equations, dates, irregular verbs, and experiments all add to the anxiety of last minute cramming. Finally, the exams are completed and report cards loom in the near future.

The Mid-Winter Dance comes appropriately after exams and before report cards. The dance was punctuated with glittering stars, a frozen pond, and a blazing fire, setting the perfect mood for a winter's evening.

A strong warning against drugs is issued by Mr. Henderson, a prominent Charlotte lawyer.

Flurries Finally

The Myers Park choir anticipates the coming snow holidays in their winter concert. Each singer donned winter costumes for the presentation of such "snow songs" as "Jingle Bells" and "White Christmas."

A slow down of the Mustang machinery occurs in the second month of 1969. The annual third quarter slump has settled like a cold in the chest of the student body. Teachers and students alike use this time to get a fresh start after the end of first semester. For a short while, Myers Park is void of any service projects, assemblies, or presentations.

One nationally recognized holiday, however, does affect Myers Park — Valentine's Day. School sweethearts present each other with candy, cards, and small presents. One of the school's clubs, Hi-Y, cashes in on this "love day" by selling singing valentines during the lunch periods. Immediately following Valentine's Day, the student's dream is answered—Snow! At last our campus is buried under a soft blanket of white fluff, and enough of it to close school for three days. During the snow, the students of Myers Park used these unexpected holidays for a variety of activities which ranged from catching up on important studies to frolicking in the snow. Snow men were constructed, snowball fights began spontaneously, and sleds were given a good work-out. Shopping centers, movie theaters, and phones were kept busy by released students. More days would possibly have been omitted from the school schedule had the snowfall started on a school night rather than on the Saturday it did. After three days of hot chocolate, late hours, and water puddles, the majority of parents were quite happy at the conclusion of the snow vacation. High temperatures and a destructive sun forced students to return to "the grind."

The long awaited sign post is erected to give the "Mustang Way" an identity. The beautiful, hand painted sign puts the city's mass produced markers to shame.

Myers Park is again infected with Spring Fever as the days grow longer and the weather, warmer. The school campus is going through a metamorphosis; green once again becomes a living color. Spring plants are not alone in growing new shoots; Seniors select a college or vocation for the coming year and underclassmen decide on their next year's schedule.

The fourth quarter of the school year begins with an onslaught of activities for the student body. Nearly two hundred people combine their talents to produce the magnificently successful Carousel. Seniors of 1969 Select Outstanding Students to Receive Horner Awards

David Archer

At the end of each school year the Seniors are able to select the outstanding members of their class to receive the Horner Award. This honor was established in 1960 in recognition of Dr. Jack Horner. Dr. Horner worked to better the image of Myers Park in the years he was principal from 1955 to 1960. The student body wishes to honor those Seniors who provided the same invaluable service to Myers Park. The number of students selected varies from year to year, but the qualifications remain the same. This year, twenty-one Seniors have been chosen by their classmates as the most representative of the Horner ideals. Each Senior possesses the qualities of Leadership, Dependability, Service, and Character. These twenty-one Seniors have brought innumerable honors to Myers Park including scholarships, awards, and recognition. These students use their talents to lead our school through student government, clubs, and activities. By giving unselfishly of their time and effort, they have not only benefitted Myers Park, but also provided an example to follow.

Some day while searching through the dusty closet of your memory, you may uncover Myers Park. Lifting aside cobwebs of thought long untouched, you begin your journey across campus.

Returning first to SC, you glance at the long lines of students waiting to eat and realize that it is by the direction of Mrs. Matthews that seven-hundred people are fed in less than an hour.

Passing by the offices of the bookkeeper and secretaries, Mrs. Clary, Mrs. Kemper, Mrs. Vehorn, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Boston, you wonder how you could have forgotten those who typed all your transcripts which were sent to college.

You pass by the crowded offices of the guidance counselors. Few students forget Miss Sifford, with her sympathetic ear and helping hand, or Mr. Feimster, scheduling club meetings and distributing college board material. Even though certain homerooms are assigned to each counselor, Mr. Rorie and Mrs. Deaton often find themselves deluged with problems of students outside their regular duties.

The name Mr. Oliver reminds you of times you were sent to him for skipping classes or having too many tardies. Your thoughts turn to Mr. Lee, another able disciplinarian, who served as a chaperon on the band's trip to Miami and who organized Myers Park's 1969 Adult Educational Program.

Reaching the principal's office, you remember the man, Dr. Lewis, who is more than just a voice over the intercom. He is a man with the super-human task of guiding Myers Park who still finds time to be interested in each student. Sadly, you must recross the bridge of memory.

From the time one enters Myers Park as a sophomore until that exciting day when he graduates, every Mustang sits through nearly five hundred and forty hours of English classes. In these three short years, teachers try to fill students with every conceivable fact about English. All the trivia concerning grammar and literature is supposed to serve as resource material for other classes and as a solid background for one's further studies. Even though students are sectioned in English according to their abilities, each grade studies the same phase of English. Tenth graders become acquainted with Silas Marner, David Copperfield, diagramming sentences, and book reports. They are encouraged to read widely since the basis of learning is reading. Juniors learn about all phases of American literature. Depth study provides an awareness of the wealth of poetry, novels, short stories, and folk lore in our American heritage. Even with her full-time job of keeping the library quiet, Miss Phifer can inspect new books.

The purpose of Myers Park's library changes from season to season. Fall finds students deluged with tests and book reports. The library offers a place to study or use resource materials.

Wet raincoats and umbrellas leave puddles on the library floor as drenched students investigate the Reader's Guide, anthologies, and other books which serve as sources for their inevitable term papers. Winter is characterized by semester exams which find frantic Mustangs cramming during their lunch periods. The library is often crowded on regular school days when some people find it necessary to catch up on incomplete homework.

As the weather gets warmer, the library becomes less crowded. The Senior Tree and the grassy campus prove to be too much competition for the library. Many other students, affected by spring fever, find it hard to study quietly in the library. Consequently, they are "asked" by the librarian to leave.

The library, stocked with over seventeen thousand books, and nearly one hundred and sixty magazines, can easily provide any information a student needs. Newspapers are available for those who want to read the news or enjoy the comics. Nearly every Mustang can use the library in some way.

The library's balcony offers a secluded, and sometimes quiet, place to study.

Mr. Mims's hard work is paid off when the orchestra gives a successful concert.

Fine Arts Classes Stimulate Innate Talent in Interested

To achieve perfection, practice is essential for a successful Music Department. By taking music courses, interested students put much of their time into long hours of hard work.

The band begins each year by trudging up and down the field, striving for perfection. Although they surpass other bands in half-time shows, the real satisfaction comes after being asked to perform at the Orange Bowl where they receive a superior rating. The band then tackles their concert season by giving performances proving that they are not only a capable marching band, but also one with fine concert musicians.

Concert season begins the orchestra's year, highlighted by playing for the musical, Carousel. The orchestra's quality adds depth to this annual production. More recognition is given to the talented orchestra when outstanding students are chosen for the All-State Orchestra.

The choral students earn an excellent reputation for Myers Park. At school concerts students sit amazed at the tone and quality of these singers. The response of their audiences is obvious when they receive standing ovations at many performances.

At Myers Park each individual has to work as a part of a group. For the Music Department, this is a year of recognition and quality. The self-realization one has of being part of a whole can never be taken from them.

Students; Many Receive Awards for Creative Efforts

Once again, Myers Park carries away many of the honors in the field of art. Mustangs have won fifty-five Gold Key Awards and four of the five Hallmark Nominations. Two prizes of one hundred dollars each have been awarded to the Art Department for the painting displayed in Shoney's window during Christmas and for winning a fence painting contest in downtown Charlotte.

Myers Park's talented young artists, under the instruction of Mr. Barber and Mrs. Smith, have created works worthy of being entered in international art shows. Pictures have been displayed in the Exchange Print Show and the Red Cross Show.

One of the highlights of Spring at Myers Park is the Sidewalk Art Show in which students may exhibit and sell their creations.

The Art Department is divided into two sections—Art I and Art II and III, which are more advanced courses for the serious art student. Students are given opportunities to express themselves by working with various materials while learning basic drawing skills. Students have a variety of creative projects from which to choose—glass etching, painting, rug making, stitchery, pottery, and sculpture.

Creative Myers Park students find use for their artistic talents in scholastic as well as professional areas. Even though they may choose to go into art as a career or use it instead for their own enjoyment, art becomes an essential part of the young artists' lives.

Dressed appropriately for work as an art teacher, Mr. Barber clowns for the camera.

Varying degrees of concentration are evidenced by Seniors during their SAT English and History class while their teacher reads to them.

According to Webster's Dictionary, history is "a chronological record of significant events (as affecting a nation, institution) usually including an explanation of their causes." According to the well-known cliches, history, which repeats itself, is made every day.

For this reason, a course in current history has been introduced in this year's curriculum to supplement traditional studies of World and American History. By reading newspapers and current magazines, the class is able to participate in discussions of common interests. As in all history classes, the diversity of opinion leads to heated debate about topics of current interest.

Slides, movies, and educational television are used to break the monotony of reports and lectures in history classes. If anything, students may learn that even though the United States is a great and powerful country, it is young and small compared with the vast empires of the ancient worlds.

"What do you mean 'Biafra is in Europe?'"

Tag," "Bonjour," "Hola" in the Halls of Myers Park

Soldiers spread Latin customs toward the end of the Roman Empire. Spanish students find conversation to be more difficult than expected.

A knowledge of foreign languages is necessary in today's society since a failure to communicate can result in misunderstandings between people. Myers Park has a comprehensive foreign language program, including German and Latin taught by the traditional method, and French and Spanish by the conversational approach. Spanish and French students are aided by language labs, consisting of headsets connected to a central control. A tape may be played to a class giving everyone a chance to participate. By listening to the language spoken by a native, students improve their diction. Students are taught Latin and German by reading, writing, grammar, and vocabulary. Since little speaking is done in these, the traditional approach is more practical for these languages. Students in either program study the culture and history of the foreign country. This knowledge gives them a basic understanding of others, and perhaps, themselves. Communication or understanding cannot exist alone. If more people would try to learn another language, perhaps some of the world's problems would be on their way to being solved. For that reason, the primary goal of studying a foreign language is Sprechen und verstehen, German; parler et comprendre, French; dicere et comprehendere, Latin; hablar y comprender, Spanish; to communicate and to understand, English.

Mr. Peel joins Mr. Hartman, Mrs. Hinson, and Mr. Barber in a skit.

Man has long been puzzled by himself and the world around him. His curiosity about life and the physical universe led to the development of the sciences.

Myers Park's science department offers many life and physical science courses. Organized experimentation and observation during lab periods often lead to a student's understanding of the science without his relying entirely on a textbook.

Biology students discover a new world under a microscope. They study the life processes of those simple, microscopic organisms as well as the complex life of more developed animals. Dissection, one of the most interesting phases of biology, is not

The more advanced course of Biology II is offered to those who find that they are doing their own thing by studying a life science.

The purpose of Physics is to gain insight into the rules which govern nature. Students study such physical phenomena as light, water, sound waves, and heat.

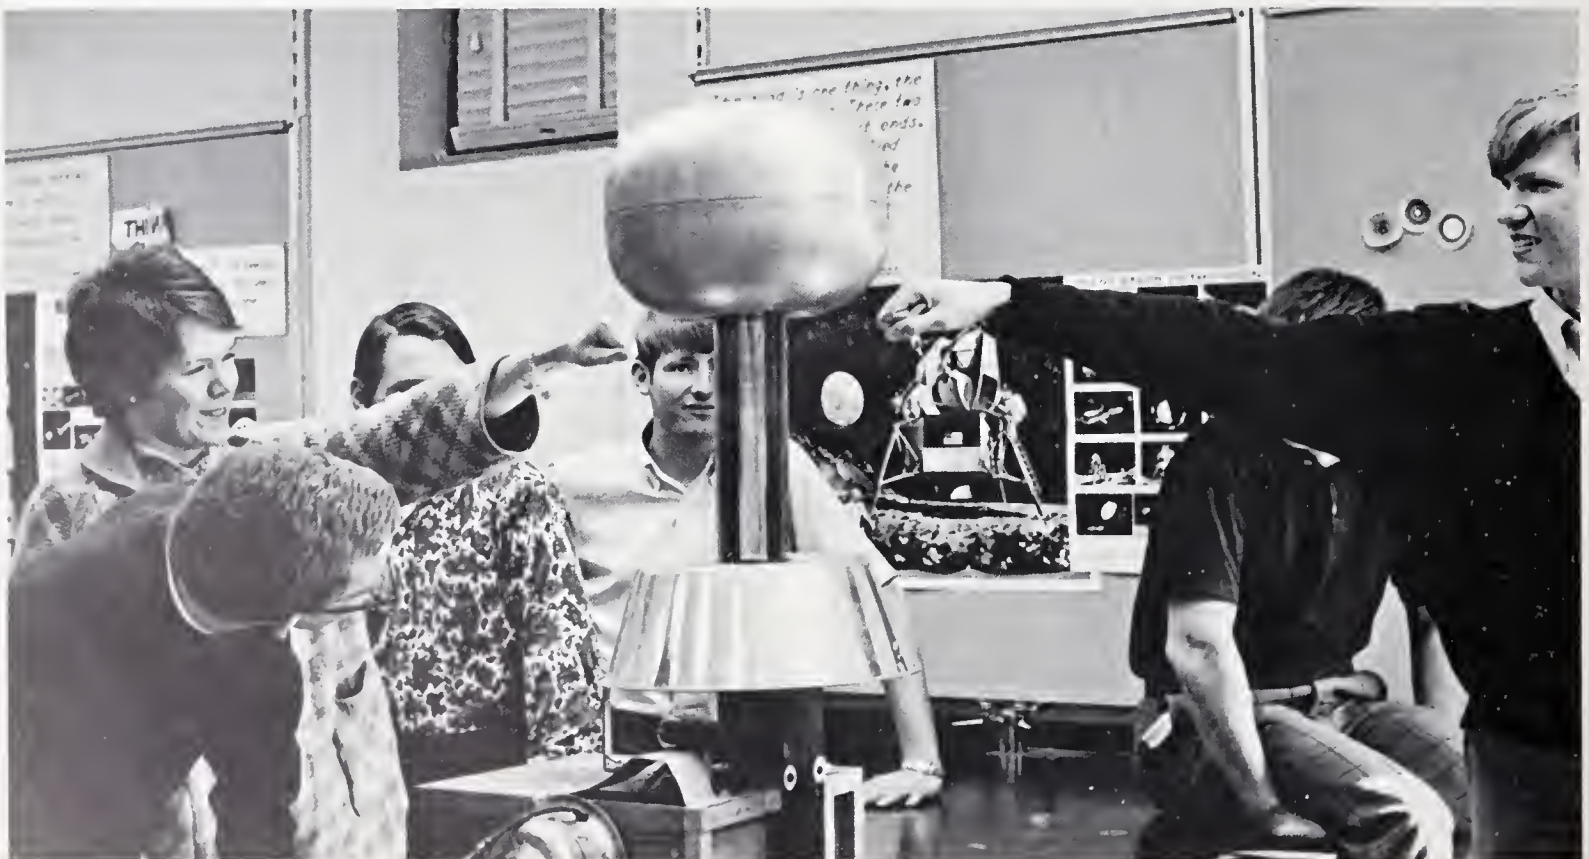

Chemistry students probe the worlds of atoms and chemicals. They find that the balancing of chemical equations requires not only mathematical ability but also patience.

The practical applications of these sciences make a student more aware of himself and his world.

Typing, Shorthand, and Other Business Courses Teach

A Fashion Merchandising teacher, Mrs. Jones, must also conduct a homeroom.

Not only can the computer in the Business Department compile absentee lists, but it also can play tic-tac-toe and sing Christmas carols. Many students become interested in data processing and other business courses after learning that machines can save man much time and effort. After acquiring the skills necessary for operating computers and working in offices, some people find that there are part-time or full-time jobs waiting for them.

Also, for those desiring office jobs, shorthand and typing courses in which students can practice with a dictaphone are offered. All types of office equipment provide the training for future employment.

Personal typing is one of the more useful skills offered at Myers Park. The application of what is learned in this class provides improvement in the appearance of one's work in other areas.

Business is a vital part of American life. For this reason, Myers Park offers a comprehensive program of secretarial, clerical, and personal skills involving the use of typewriters, computers, and other office equipment.

There is one class at Myers Park which nearly every student is eager to take. Driver's Education, a prerequisite for a driver's license, is quite an experience for all concerned. Teachers have their share of headaches with students who do not know right from left or those who forget to release the steering wheel after making a turn.

Girls in the Health Occupations class learn to take pulses and temperatures in preparation for a possible career in nursing. After completing the course, which involves training with actual hospital equipment, students are eligible to work as ward secretaries or nurses' aides in hospitals. Future homemakers cook and sew while boys in the Graphics Department shoot negatives for offset printing. Leading the stampeding Senior Class of 1969 were capable and enthusiastic class officers David Archer, Tommy Campen, Betsy Powers, and Hoppy Elliot, aided by the guidance of Senior Class Advisor Mrs. Edith S. Long. Included in this stampede for more participation were foreign exchange students from Brazil, Ecuador, Norway, and Sweden. These Mustangs lived with Seniors during the year and created a cosmopolitan atmosphere as well as a spirit of good will.

One of the many milestones of this journey was the Senior Class Play, The Teahouse of the August Moon. The atmosphere of the play was enhanced by beautiful scenery, slant-eyed orientals speaking Japanese, and a live goat named Gruff. Teahouse's success made possible the Senior gift—an outdoor brick fountain. Excited Seniors filled with anticipation were honored at the formal Jr.-Sr. Curious as to the theme of the dance, they finally learned that the clock had been turned back to the time of the lords and ladies of King Arthur's Camelot. Another portion of the Senior journey was the Cushion Concert, which was centered around a rollicking Laugh-In. As the year drew to a close, one of the final milestones was in sight, the Broadway-like production of the musical Carousel. The actors' performances, the impressive scenery, and the beautiful orchestral music exemplified the creative talent of Myers Park students.

Chaucer's Canterbury Tales becomes a part of every Senior at Myers Park. Like those pilgrims beginning their journey to the shrine of Thomas a Becket, the MP Seniors are about to venture out into life. No Senior will ever forget walking down the aisles in Ovens Auditorium to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance" with a lump in his throat, a tassel in his eye, wondering, "What will I become?"

"Happiness is..." being a Junior at Myers Park.

The happiness of the Junior year is always an experience to treasure and remember, and this year has proven to be no different. The Juniors came, snickering at the Sophomores and sauntering confidently around a familiar campus. Jumping right into the swing of things, Juniors enjoyed competition between the classes for everything from homeroom decorating to exhibiting the mightiest vocal power at pep rallies and football games. October rolled around and the droopy-eyed middleclassmen struggled through PSAT's, their first real taste of many upcoming early morning firsts.

For Juniors, real happiness is the work that began in January when plans were made for the outstanding Junior-Senior. The date of April 26 was set and the theme Camelot was selected. Inspired by hard working and original chairmen, participating students made and organized plans. Problems arose but problems were solved, thanks to the much appreciated guidance of one Mr. Richards. Rising early every Saturday morning can be a bit trying, but the happy times had by all Juniors working together were worth lost sleep. Hours of cutting, glueing, splashing paint, chopping, cramming Hardee hamburgers, and jiving to WGIV resulted in a successful Junior-Senior Dance. Another happiness of the Junior year came in March when the long-awaited class rings arrived. Have you ever seen people paint, dial a phone, even eat with their ring fingers? It was quite obvious that hosts of little fingers had new bands of identity.

The final happiness to a Junior is knowing that with the short span of a few more days, he will be a Senior at last.

"Remember"

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterward remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Excited, amazed, scared, and hopeful! These words may be used to describe the new Sophomores as they tripped through the gigantic halls of Myers Park. Little did they realize that three glorious years lay ahead of them. As the year got underway, the Junior High products were noted for their various talents and contributions. The boys, engaging in various sports, helped to make a name for themselves at this school of two thousand. The girls began to join various committees and clubs. No longer did they consider themselves by separate groups but rather under one name—"Mustangs."

During the first semester, elections for class officers were held. Ed Hawes was elected Sophomore Class President. Assisting him were Bob Lewis, Vice President; Nancy Smith, Treasurer; and Betty Poole, Secretary. All other Mustangs who were willing to help contributed to making this class the most school-spirited. They worked especially hard during first quarter and gained much satisfaction when they won the contest for the best decorated building.

This was a year full of experiences for many of them. Sophomore girls seemed to grow up overnight as they began dating the Senior boys. These underclassmen also set a trend in fashions. A majority of the Sophomore girls have faithfully worn their boots and Denise dresses.

As first semester drew to a close, the most precious hours were spent cramming for their first two-hour exams. The Sophomores looked forward to second semester with much anticipation, and each one set better goals for himself. Each student realized that to be a real part of Myers Park, one must put forth much effort. These individuals made it the class it was and will be for the next two years.

Betsy Bolen and Susan Jennings, School Spirit Chairmen, paint signs for athletic events.

Kemp Dunaway and Viv Greear work hard at boosting school spirit as Publicity Committee Chairmen.

The Myers Park Student Council Committee Chairmen

Hunter May and Liz Naumoff, Foreign Exchange Committee Chairmen, help make the exchange students feel like true Mustangs during their visit to the United States.

Tom Lane works with the House and Grounds Chairmen Bobby Bertini and Donnie Seltzer in mopping the Student Center patio.

Robbie Steele and Marcia Hill, Handbook-Scrapbook Chairmen, collect all the many newspaper clippings concerning Myers Park for the scrapbook.

With the twenty-two hundred students at Myers Park, much work goes on behind the scenes. The students not always receiving the credit they deserve are the committee chairmen. They are the cogs in the machinery keeping Myers Park operating.

Painting scenery and twisting crepe paper, the Dance Committee gives the cafeteria the right atmosphere for themes used. Many students remember the signs hiding the clock in the old cafeteria provided by the Publicity Committee, informing the student body of the future events. The School Spirit Committee also paints signs showing athletes that the school is behind them in their efforts.

tee is to set up the stage for various assemblies. The House and Grounds Committee keeps the exterior of the school looking neat and clean. The Elections Committee organizes and runs the many elections held throughout the year. The Foreign Exchange Students are welcomed and aided with a committee designed for their benefit. The efforts of the Public Relations Committee are aimed at keeping dispositions up. The Student Opinion is in charge of presenting suggestions from the student body to the student council. The Handbook-Scrapbook Committee compiles a scrapbook covering the entire school year. The Hall of Fame Committee honors a distinguished former student by selecting him to this position.

Public Relations Chairmen, Susan Trice, Lewis Lobdell, keep Myers Park happy.

Johnny Austin, Rusty Josephs, and Coleman Smith work closely together for the dances.

Christina Spence and Bill Marsh select an appropriate candidate for Hall of Fame.

Fred Phillips and Tim Ferguson work hard to prepare for assemblies and pep rallies.

Farsighted and Representative Council Elected '68-'69

Student Council Vice-President Chip Hope led the Interclub Council in planning a carnival.

The cafeteria was the sight of many excellent suggestions brought before the student council this year. Working well together, the council was usually in agreement after extensive investigation.

The accomplishment of the year came as a climax as each member's term neared an end, with the establishment of an inter-racial committee. Organized to promote better relations, the committee consisted of teachers and students of both races, with varying convictions.

The council's most beneficial contribution, however, was the Interclub Council Scholarship Fund. This was contributed to throughout the year by clubs, but was mostly raised through profits from the Interclub Council Carnival.

Chip Hope and Ned Lipford discuss the possibilities of a recent suggestion presented to the council.

Tim Ferguson proposes a change in policy.

Chip Hope gets acquainted with members of the council he is to work with during the year.

Debbie Hutchison, as the new President of the United States, informs her cabinet members of her policies. Method of winning approval: "Blow in their ear; they'll follow you anywhere!"

The second semester officers: Caroline Steele, Sec.; Cindy Craddock, Treas.; Yates Dunaway, Vice-Pres.; Bill Marsh, Pres.

Bookstand is NHS Carnival Project

Twice a year the yellow sashes with white initials NHS are brought out of storage. They are seen leaving school in groups of three and four, crumpled and crushed between someone's arm and books. These labels reappear transformed the next morning, neatly pressed, draped over an arm, or hung on a hanger. In this manner they migrate to a table on the auditorium stage where they are allowed a few hours' rest. Students appear in small groups; and as they arrive, each dons a sash. Time grows short; the auditorium fills with faces revealing hope, expectation, and discouragement. One by one the sashes are taken off and transferred to another person. When the ceremony is over, they are carelessly tossed onto the table to be put away until next time.

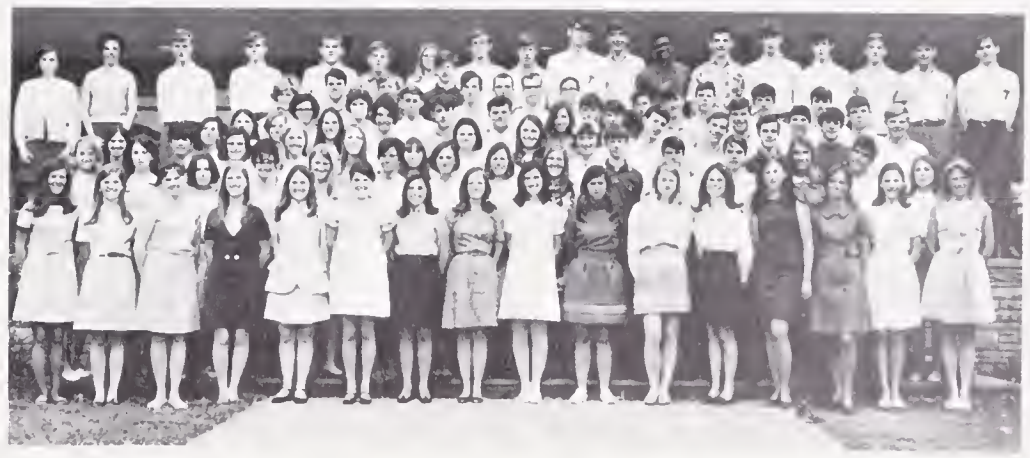

Inductees into the Honor Society are launched into new horizons for their initiation skit.

The first semester officers: Bruce Schoonmaker, Pres.; Lisa McGaughey, Sec.; Dianne Newman, Treas.; Giles Foushee, V-Pres.

Steve Poliakoff and Rusty Allen discuss the pros and cons of the latest edition of the MyerSpark.

The '68-'69 'Spark Staff Covers the School Activities

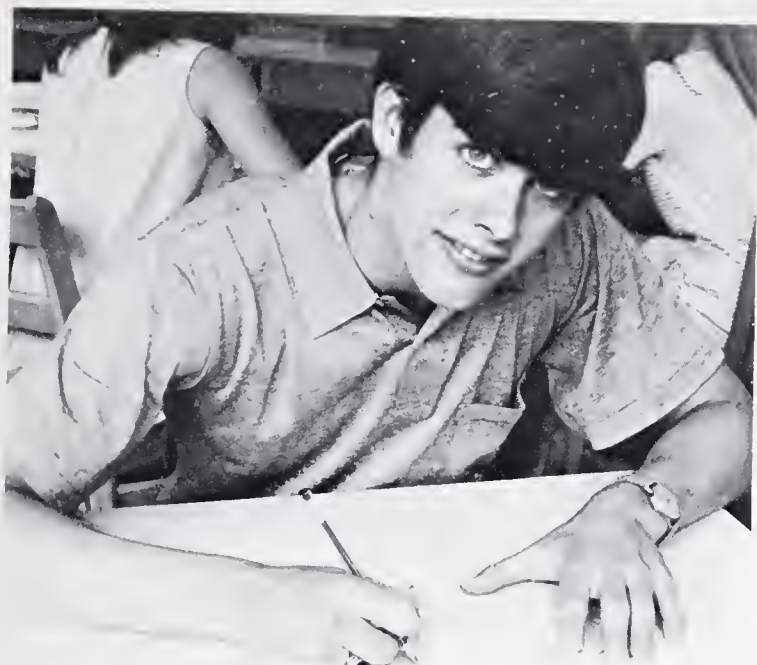

George Davidson succeeds in helping Julie Jetton add humor to the copy for her assignment.

The door of LA-29 closes at the beginning of fifth period upon the twenty members of the 'Spark staff. Calling the meeting to order, the editor-in-chief asks for story suggestions. Keeping the recent events in mind, he proceeds to assign copy. Along with the features, the regulars must also be written. The Seniors of the Issue and the Ponies to be Proud Of are chosen, and staffers are sent to investigate the background of these outstanding students. An entire page is devoted to Myers Park sports. The various athletic contests are covered, and the outstanding athletes are named Kings of the MP Corral. After the copy has been assigned, the page editors draw their layouts.

Louise Upchurch works diligently on copy.

Randy Keller, Assistant Editor, draws a layout.

Jane Perrin is contented with a new layout.

Throughout the Year; Provides Several Special Issues

The entire process of compiling an issue takes a full week, as does the printing. The first eight page paper (the normal paper is four pages long) is the Christmas edition. Homerooms, clubs, and students pool their money to pay for the Christmas Greeting ads.

The next special issue to arrive in the homerooms is the election issue. This issue is devoted to informing the student body of the platforms of the student council candidates.

The final special issue is the sixteen page issue containing the senior superlatives, class history, prophecy, poem, last will and testament, and the college list of seniors.

Harry Smith writes out a business receipt.

Rusty Allen re-reads a newly typed feature.

Minor staffers Diane Goldberg and Mary Bilger type up copy for the forthcoming newspaper.

Creative Staff Sculptures Masterpiece: The Mustang

"Does anybody recognize the girl in this picture? Is she a junior or a senior?" "Look on the class cards and see who this boy has for English." "Picture schedules today. Connie, are you going to schedule the dance Saturday night?" "What minor staffer is in GAA? I need you to write some copy for me." "Will somebody take this to the office for me?" "Betsi, have we found enough sponsors and patrons yet?" "Here, write a head on the Band for me... three columns plus one on the next page. Say something about their excellent performance in the Orange Bowl." "I've scheduled a picture for Monday. Will you call these people and tell them about it?" "Mr. Kiser, will you sign this announcement for me?" "Why didn't somebody tell me how much copy would be in this space I drew? It's impossible to write two hundred and fifty words on a club that's done four things this year." "Lee, did they send up any more pictures?" "I've got to take this contact sheet down and get them to enlarge a picture for me." "This picture isn't cropping right. I've either got to cut off everybody's feet or put that bush in the picture." "Is there a minor staffer who's not doing anything? Write this caption for me—two lines, one column." "We're having a major staff meeting Thursday night at 7:30. We need to discuss the cover and dedication. Bring your folders." "Oh no! I've got one more person in the Senior Class than I've got space for!"

The annual staff offers its thanks to Mr. Kiser for a year they will never forget.

The door to the office of Editor-in-Chief Lee Walker is always open to anyone needing help.

Is this follow the leader or a mirror image? Actually, Jack Nichols patterns his actions after the venerable Mr. Kiser.

Photographers Seize, Record the Fleeting Year '68-'69

"Do you want this picture taken inside or outside? I hope inside because that's the only kind of film I brought. I'm glad you showed up to supervise this. Is it a group shot? Officers and a candid? Okay. Will this be in the library? Who's missing? One of the officers—She's five minutes late! I've got to get back to the darkroom and work on those enlargements. Here she comes. All right, where do you want them? Is it horizontal or vertical? Do you want them in any special order? We'll put them in front of a table first. Put the president sitting on the table. A little more to the center. You two on the ends move in some more—that's good. Now everybody look at the clock. Don't look so serious! Everybody smile. Now let's get some on the balcony. Stand next to the rail. No, that won't quite work. Two of you get chairs and stand on them behind the others. Now let's get some candid. Have you got anything you can be working on? Okay, sit at that table. Now you stand behind her and be pointing at the paper as though you were making a suggestion. Okay, that's all the film. Do you need any more? Well, good-bye...Thanks for showing up."

As Head Photographer, Al Harris worked for the MUSTANG and 'SPARK Staffs.

Jimmy McEwen and Larry Welch check through the contacts, sorting and marking for enlargements.

Photography can be very frustrating at times. This is often evident through the results of temper tantrums.

Bill Turner moves in to get a good shot at the art-show.

MP's MMM Excel in Great Music

Along with a scholastic honor society, Myers Park also has a music honor society. Known as the Modern Music Masters, it is Myers Park's chapter of the National Music Honor Society, with inductions once a year. These musically elite students ushered and helped with the registrations at the North Carolina Music Teachers' Convention. Their performance at the Charlotte Woman's Club in February was most successful, as was their winter concert at Myers Park. Held in the evening, it was entitled "An Evening of Fine Entertainment." The concert performance was in the orchestra room, with the chairs arranged in a semi-circle, giving an air of an old-fashioned chamber music session. The entertainment did indeed include chamber music, ranging from this to a Scottish sword dance. The outstanding part of the concert was the Grasshopper Opera. Members of the MMM very solemnly told the tale of a grasshopper who had the misfortune to sit on a sweet potato vine a few minutes longer than he should have. The performance left the audience in stitches. The club exemplifies the great musical talent of Myers Park students, and many of its members are destined to be the country's great musicians.

President Joe Grier and Vice-President Gail Graham lead the musically elite Modern Music Masters.

Larry Carter exhibits his singing ability in the ludicrous Grasshopper Opera.

Bruce Schoonmaker takes a bow after sending the audience laughing over the Grasshopper Opera.

Enthusiastic Cheerleaders, Majorettes, and Lettergirls,

Head Cheerleader Baxter Hutcherson slaves diligently to keep school spirit at a peak.

Behind every great man is a woman; behind every great team is school spirit. Myers Park's Cheerleaders, Lettergirls, and Majorettes channel the flood of school spirit into the ears of her athletes. Infinite practice and diligent work are involved in obtaining the skill of controlling the cheers of a mass of students.

As the football season approaches, weekly practice keeps the girls synchronized. The night of the first game arrives. With arms and pom poms flying, the cheerleaders lead the football team onto the field through the funnel formed by the Lettergirls, Majorettes, and band. The crowd's cries rend the air as the wave washes past "Myers Park" spelled out by the Lettergirls.

The game begins and the Cheerleaders range themselves out to encompass the crowd. "Say it loud... I'm a 'Stang and I'm proud!" The Majorettes and Lettergirls join in leading the cheers. The band breaks in with a song and the girls execute the routine accompanying it.

As halftime draws near, the band, with Majorettes and Lettergirls, moves to the end of the field. The siren sounds, and as the players leave

Sparkling Spirit Ignite Fuse Releasing Mustang Power

the field, the halftime entertainment begins. Anticipation mounts until the lights are dimmed and batons are lit. The Majorettes become human fireflies. As the batons are twirled, they become circles of flames; thrown into the air they sear the night. The game resumes and a lone trumpeter plays the signal for "Charge!" The team does indeed charge, and with it onto the field charges the spirit of the crowd. Behind every great man is a woman; behind every great team is school spirit; behind every great school are her spirit leaders.

Cheerleaders and Lettergirls join arms and forces in leading cheers at MP football games.

Majorettes march with the band for the halftime show.

The band's many hard-practiced formations for halftime performance include spelling MP.

Bill Campbell signals changes in formation by shrill blows on his whistle at practice.

Band Plays in Orange Bowl, Receives Superior Rating

The Christmas Cabin, run by students and parents, helped finance the trip to Miami for the performance in the Orange Bowl.

"Is the MPHS band really going to Miami for the Orange Bowl? We have sent our reporters over to the school to get the true picture. Is it rumor or reality? We'll soon know ... Here's our man on the scene." "I'm here on the MPHS playing field talking to Bill Richardson. Bill, is it true that the band will play in the Orange Bowl Parade?"

"Yes, we will have to miss a week of school, but the school board has approved. We have the cooperation of the teachers, so we're all set scholastically. We've been practicing since this summer. At present we're drilling two and three afternoons a week, so we expect to be in top shape for our performance. It'll be a crowd-pleaser ... modern popular tunes along with the traditional. Our program is set."

"You sound as if you consider that only a partially completed check-list."

"Yes, there is one more goal to reach. Trying to keep individual expenses to a minimum, we've leased a building on King's Drive. For the time being we're using it for a community attic sale."

"You emphasize 'for the time being.' What are the future plans?"

"It will be 'The Christmas Cabin.'"

The pep band aided in bringing out school spirit at pep rallies.

We'll sell everything from the Christmas tree to the star to go on top. Band students and their parents are giving up their time to run the store, so I hope we'll have plenty of support."

"Well, Bill, good luck in your endeavors. This is your reporter at MPHS interviewing Bill Richardson, Drum Major.

Sweet Voices Fill the Air as Choir Sings in Concert

Mr. Cronstedt gets much satisfaction out of leading Myers Park's excellent choir.

Marcia Payne smiles happily as she sings.

Empty choir stands and a podium preside over the auditorium as students arrive. Many have books to place at their feet, others have only themselves, but all have open ears, ready to listen. The lights are dimmed and the noise subsides. When all is quiet, seemingly distant voices are heard singing as the choir prepares to enter from the vestibule. A procession starts down either aisle. As each choir member passes, his voice becomes separate from the whole, then gradually fades and blends with the other voices. A candle reflects the glow on his face as he paces himself to the music. The two glimmering streams fuse as the stand is filled. The entire auditorium is spell-bound for a fleeting forty-five minutes. Silence is maintained as the choir files off stage.

'68-'69 Choir officers are Judy Medearis, Susan Teat, Gail Graham, and Bruce Schoonmaker.

The members of All-State Orchestra are, SEATED: Jess Pittard, Joe Grier, Larry Casey; STANDING: Phoebe Rendleman, Connie Harris, Debbie Hutchison, Jerry McCauley.

Debbie Hutchison receives congratulations for her excellent solo performance in the orchestra concert.

Orchestra's Performance in Concert a Great Success

The PA system hums and clicks; a first period teacher suspends her lecture to hear the announcement. "Students are reminded of the assembly this morning." The halls fill with students, some head for class; others file through the various entrances into the auditorium.

The auditorium seats fill with students. When the orchestra converges upon the stage, the cacaphonic sound of the instruments being tuned mingles with the voices of the students who have come to hear the performance. For a brief period of time, students are suspended into a world of orchestral music.

About forty minutes later, students are seen leaving the auditorium. The PA system hums and clicks. "The A-assembly had been dismissed. Will the B-assembly please report to the auditorium."

Mr. Mims works hard to perfect the skills of his students, striving for professional performances.

Hi-Y Plays in City-wide Tournament

The YMCA sponsors Hi-Y Clubs throughout the United States. Myers Park High School is fortunate to have two such clubs. One designed for juniors and one for seniors, they are open to any boy interested in sports. The clubs give boys a chance to participate in competitive sports without the time-consuming process of daily practice for school team sports. One of the many advantages to being affiliated with the YMCA is that the YMCA facilities are available to the boys, including basketball courts, a swimming pool, billiards, and ping-pong tables. The purpose of the clubs is to build leadership, to help the community through service projects, and to have fun.

The Hi-Y's offered many service projects to Myers Park. They swept glass from the parking lots and provided green trash barrels for the campus to maintain the cleanliness. Along with painting these trash barrels, they also painted the football goalposts. They also continually painted the green rock at the school's entrance that was always strangely discolored by other schools. Preceding each school dance, the Hi-Y swept and mopped the patio. They also provided music in the cafeteria at lunch. Money-making projects included Valentine's Day telegrams, a shoeshine, bottle and paper collections, and a car wash.

Y-Teens Serve School, Community

To grow in spirit is one of the objectives of the Y-Teens clubs. Just as the Hi-Y is affiliated with the YMCA, Y-Teens is affiliated with the YWCA. The YWCA facilities are open to the Y-Teens members, and the girls often go swimming there as a group.

All three clubs, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior, helped to serve at the annual Myers Park Bar-B-Que, and helped in selling Christmas Cabin tickets to finance the band's trip to the Orange Bowl.

The Jr. Y-Teens used their profit from selling Christmas Cabin tickets to buy candy. They took this candy to a home for the aged as a surprise treat on Valentine's Day.

The Sr. Y-Teens took some underprivileged children from a nursery trick-or-treating on Halloween. After this masquerading tour of homes, the Sr. Y-Teens gave the children a party. The Sr. Y-Teens also represented the United States at an international cookout at the Charlotte YWCA.

The Soph. Y-Teens made and sold wooden keychains at a YWCA bazaar. Their sales were so successful that they made more keychains for the carnival.

In the way of service, the Jr. Y-Teens helped clean up after Jr.-Sr., and the Sr. Y-Teens decorated the library at Christmas.

Sophomore Y-Teens examine the materials to be used in making key chains to be sold at the bazaar.

The Jr. Y-Teens officers are Connie Dunaway, Missy Smart, Millie Speir, and Louise Upchurch.

MP's GAA Jivers Groove It on Out

"Everyone play your position. Hands up! Remember, hit the ball up! That's right, set it up. Now spike it!" Volleyball is one of the many sports enjoyed by members of the GAA. Providing afternoon recreation, the GAA offers girls the opportunity to keep themselves physically fit.

During the year after school, the girls are offered recreation in sports such as swimming, gymnastics, cycling, hiking, golf, horseback riding, archery, football, reading, tennis, and track. A track meet in the Spring gives hard workers a chance to display their talents in tough competition. The most highly anticipated event, however, is a play day at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Schools from all over the state send representatives to compete in the events.

Being inducted into GAA involves participation in sports to accumulate the required number of points. Extremely active girls are rewarded for their participation with block letters and pins. Perhaps the most difficult but amusing phase of GAA is the rigorous initiation, a test of endurance. Wearing their oldest clothes, the new inductees enter the Gym foyer only to emerge later covered with shaving cream and raw eggs.

GAA officers are Deloris Collins, Nancy Heermans, Donna Friesen, Cheryl Hallman.

Barbara Banner's preferred GAA activity is the administering of initiation tasks.

Medics Win State Club of the Year

Mustang Medics is Myers Park's club for those students interested in medicine. Being introduced to the fields available, members heard speakers varying from a dentist to a physical therapist. Observing Charlotte facilities, the club made tours of the Red Cross Building and the Health Department.

Boarding buses early one fall morning, the Medics left for Morganton, where they toured wards of mental patients at Broughton Hospital, and Western Carolina Center, a home and school for retarded children. Offering their services to the school and community, the club printed and distributed Alma Mater/Calendar cards and helped with MOD, the teenage division of the March of Dimes.

Many toys were collected by the Red Cross members for distribution at Christmas.

If Myers Park students are observed closely enough, and at the right times, some will be seen walking the halls with tricycles, trains, and dolls. This is not a second childhood; it is part of the reaching effort of the Red Cross Christmas Project. Armed with practical as well as enjoyable gifts, students reach out to needy families to give them the Christmas they cannot have alone. The Red Cross also visited many nursing homes in a concerted effort of singing Christmas carols to the aged. The Red Cross arm stretches even further in reaching the men in Vietnam. Many a soldier will remember the gift he received in the Red Cross's generous Christmas present.

Drama Organizations Produce "Tea

King Barry Bell gazes intently, assuming his role for the Festival in the Park.

Myers Park's Drama Department puts on several plays throughout the year. These require afternoon rehearsals, generally closed to the public, but we shall observe one in progress right now.

It is about three minutes before rehearsal time. Several of the actors are lounging around; the director has not arrived yet.

"Do you remember when I couldn't get the voice he wanted yesterday? He said I had it once, but I never could find it again. Would you recognize it if you heard it? Good! Now listen. 'I loved Jonathan from the moment I met him until the moment he died.' Is that it?"

"No, a little lower, with more depth ... no, now your voice is fluctuating too much, try to keep it on a more even tone ... yes—that's it!"

"Good. Once I find it I can keep it.

Here he is now."

"Places, everyone. Cut the lights." Inky blackness stains the entire auditorium. No sound is heard until a piano key is struck and a violin is tuned to it. "Now while he's doing that, bring the lights back on slowly. Take them up to about eight." As the ink washes away and visibility returns, everyone seems to have found his position in the darkness.

Theater-in-the-round, which we have observed in the making, is one of the more difficult types of productions. With the audience sitting around the edge of the acting area, facial expressions can be seen much more clearly; therefore, each actor must fully understand the emotions of his character, and be able to convey them to the audience without words. If you observed carefully, you would have noticed that each actor was Drama experience is available to anyone who wants it at Myers Park. In class, students learn body exercises and voice inflections for acting, and lighting and directing techniques for producing as well as interpretations of plays for greater understanding, resulting in better acting. Some designing and building of props and sets is taught, also.

Myers Park's two drama organizations are Limelighters and Thespians. The Limelighters Club is open to anyone interested in drama. Various speakers, films, and workshops expose students to all phases of drama. Those excelling in their drama achievements are inducted into the drama honor society, the Myers Park Chapter of the National Thespian Society.

The FHA provides the means for those girls having the initiative to prepare themselves for the future. Emphasizing worthy home memberships, the FHA encourages good person to person relationships advocating democratic practices, it advances community relationships; promoting international good will, the FHA furthers international relationships. The vertebrae that make up the backbone of America are the individual homes. As long as they remain intact, America remains intact. The FHA is truly helping America by supporting these building blocks.

A person might ask, "Who would ever want to be a teacher?" The answer is simple—those people dedicated enough to pass their knowledge on to others. This is the aspiration of the FTA, to give its members the inside track on the teaching profession, from the first interest in teaching to the teaching certificate. This year the FTA has attempted to attain their goals through various activities.

By visiting elementary and junior high classrooms, the Psycho-Educational Center, and hearing guest speakers, the club had a chance to observe teachers in action. In addition, FTA members learned about teaching by helping teachers after school by grading papers, cutting stencils, and arranging bulletin boards.

Paper flowers were the FTA's contributions to the carnival.

Great Books Discusses Philosophies

A student has it rough. Every day he has knowledge poured into his ears. Some students are rebellious at being forced to learn; others sleep. Nevertheless, there always are a few students who answer questions with a strained, reluctant voice that shows the uncertainty of their answers. It is these same interested students who attend Great Books. The purpose of this organization is to stimulate its participants to read analytically chosen selections and exchange their conclusions and reactions to timeless literature. Mr. Fulcher inaugurates these perplexing, involved discussions by asking questions about the lesson, bringing into view all of the forces and ideas that have governed man and his actions throughout history. The philosophy involved is one that has occurred in every culture of man; hence, it is called the Perennial Philosophy.

Mr. Fulcher listens intently to a student interpretation of the literature discussed at a meeting of Great Books.

Although Late in Arriving, Pegasus Sales Successful

Myers Park's Pegasus is more of a creative annual than a literary magazine. The '69 edition is not the second edition, as many people think. Actually, there was a publication of Pegasus many years ago. The edition is a composite of the work of five departments: English, Art, Photography, Business, and Graphics. The English Department supplies, of course, the literature, which is half prose and half verse. Half of the work in the magazine is that of the Art Department. The photographers supply all the pictures therein. The Business Department types the literature on their IBM printer, after which the Graphics Department runs it off. Sold to the public, the magazine displays the talents of Myers Park's students.

Margaret Pierce finishes drawing all the layouts for PEGASUS.

Jerry Pettus runs off a few more copies of PEGASUS, the Myers Park High literary magazine.

The name PEGASUS is quite appropriate for the creative annual by the Mustangs.

"Service Above Self" is Basis for Interact's Projects

Alan Mayfield, Danny Boyd, and Paul Harrison buy Interact license plates from Bill Barnhardt who seems confused by money matters.

Interact inaugurated a new method of induction this year, the pledge system. Let us observe an interview with a prospective member.

"You say you wish to join Interact, but are you willing to work?"

After a mumbled reply, the interviewing panel continues, "Are you willing to work at Bethlehem Center helping underprivileged children or spend Saturdays cleaning up the campus or contributing your share of work to a major project every month?"

One can now see that an Interact member must sacrifice time, work, and social life for the personal satisfaction of service. For this reason, Interact Club was awarded Club of the Year for its emphasis on "Service above Self."

Working in the Graphics Department, Danny Spicer draws an Interact Calendar layout.

After the preliminary matters of gossip, the "quiet" sign, the devotion and roll call, the GAC meeting comes to order. The president then rises and begins the discussion of club business.

"Next month we plan to play Santa for a poor family. So, will ya'll bring in toys and clothes for the children? They are all ten years and under. Please continue selling the pom-poms before the football game this Friday. Also, will four girls from each lunch period volunteer to sell the green Kool-Aid before the Ashley game? Please continue to check the calendar for Rehab and the Thompson Orphanage."

As the projects and dates continue to roll forth, the girls diligently place the dates on their cluttered calendars. "Violent Love" is then used to close the meeting—Ambassador style!

Keyettes Sponsor "Be Happy Week"

The Keyettes, one of the two service clubs for girls at Myers Park, has served its school and community for the fourth year. During the first few days of school, they wore "Ask Me" signs inviting bewildered sophomores to ask them the locations of buildings.

They made Christmas a happy one for two welfare children. Soldiers in Vietnam received Christmas cards from the girls.

To support the wrestling team, they wore booster tags and attended the District Match on February 21.

As community projects, the Keyettes helped a retarded child, and helped at Sunshine Day Nursery and Providence Home for the aged. March induction of juniors and sophomores helped to continue the club's services from year to year.

Key Club Car Washes Held at Christ Episcopal Church

The Key Club is a Kiwanis sponsored service club which strives to initiate responsible citizenship in individuals through service projects to school, community, and nation. Before school started this year, the ambitious members cut the grass and edged the sidewalks at Myers Park. The Key Club worked for the Bonsai Organization, which specializes in an oriental art concerning trees, at the Festival in the Park. Car washes were held throughout the year at Christ Church. In December, as part of Key Club Week, members clad in coats and ties washed desks. Annual projects are the compiling of the Key Club Directory and the sponsoring of the Student-Faculty Game. At the Carnival, the club sponsored a pie throw and wheel of fortune.

Monogram Club Sells M P Keys to Members of Club

The members of the Monogram Club represent every athletic team on campus. They are selected on the basis of desire to work for the Monogram Club and receiving a letter in a sport. During the year the Monogram Club undertook various activities. Raising and lowering the flag daily was one of the responsibilities accepted by the president, Chip Holden. During the winter season, the members sold basketball programs which included the players' pictures and statistics. Money was raised to furnish the basketball players with warm-up suits next year. One of the new innovations of the club was its buying silver keys engraved with an MP for the members to wear on their letter jackets.

Speech Club Excels in Competition

A very popular special interest club at Myers Park is the Speech Club. Its purpose is to give students an opportunity to learn to express themselves clearly before a group. The club is open to all students regardless of their enrollment in a speech class. The activities of the club included regularly scheduled meetings at which time students were given the opportunity to give both prepared and extemporaneous speeches or to hear speakers on subjects such as Biafra. The club also held demonstration debates informing students of rhetorical logic and procedure. One of the highlights of the year was the practice congress which passed pertinent laws such as abolishing Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny and replacing them with compulsory sex education in kindergarten. In addition to the meetings, club members participated in speech tournaments with other schools and colleges.

Those members of the club who excelled in their contests received points toward becoming a member of the National Forensic League, an honorary speech organization. The NFL travelled throughout the state competing in contests and mock legislatures. The League also helped other schools with their debates and speeches.

With Carnival, projects, Speech Club wins "Special Interest Club of the Year."

Le Club Francais Donne Une Piece

Melinda Finch is curious as to what Kathy Geary is painting on a French Club sign.

This year the French Club has been a welcome addition to Myers Park. Under the leadership of the president, Anne McQuilkin, the club has engaged in many activities. At Christmas time, the club went carolling at the Charlotte Rehabilitation Hospital. They cheered the patients up by singing songs in both French and English. As a service project to the school, the French Club painted huge Christmas murals for each of the classes in which French is taught. Loaded down with blankets, pillows, and quilts, almost three hundred students crowded into the cafeteria for the two French Club plays. Spanish Club Views Slides of Spain

Spanish Club officers are V.P., Bill Burwell; Sec., Jan Davidson; Treas., Bebe Byrum; and Pres., Jim Bristow.

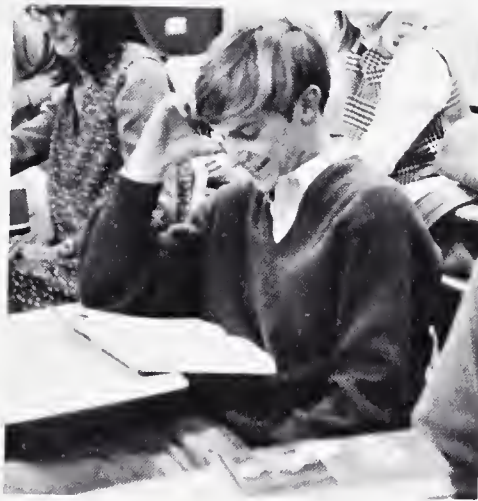

During the course of the year, the Spanish Club's activities ranged from entertaining films about Spain to bingo in Spanish. The central idea, however, of each meeting was to strengthen each student's understanding of Spanish and to further his knowledge about Spanish-speaking countries.

An unusual entertainment at one meeting consisted of Spanish games and the breaking of the Pinata. Members blindfolded one boy, spun him around and around. After stopping him, they led him over to the pinata. He swung at it until he succeeded in hitting it which resulted in a hailstorm of chewing gum and candy.

German Club Learns to Play "Skat"

The German Club is open to all students enrolled in a German course at Myers Park High School. The purpose of the club is to discover the many facets of German life that cannot be studied in class.

For two projects this year, the club helped with the annual Bar-B-Que to make it a great success. With the true Mustang spirit and another helping hand, the members of the club sold Christmas Cabin tickets. The members of the German Club agree that their best and funniest meeting occurred when their treasurer Howard Widis described the German card game "skat." Latin Club Pursues Roman Tradition

Flowing togas, Roman catapults, and "Gaudeamus Igitur" characterized the year for Latin Club at Myers Park.

With the arrival of the holiday season, a play was presented contrasting the Roman Saturnalia and Christmas. Telling stories of Latin myths was the center of the February meeting. Myers Park participated in the Junior Classical League convention at Chapel Hill with the presentation of Pyramus and Thisbe skit.

The Latin Week began successfully with the annual slave auction. Also movies on Roman life and philosophy exemplified the Roman mores. The year closed with the Latin Banquet when smiling students were transformed into dignified, stately Romans.

Attired in their blue jeans and armed with their shovels, the Pen Pushers form a chorus line in front of the bushes they have just planted.

Shorthand students are introduced to the business world by joining the Pen Pusher's Club. Under the guidance of Mrs. Pharr, the Pen Pushers carried out many service projects for the school. In December, the Pen Pushers donned their blue jeans and hogwashers to plant bushes. Surrounded by white stones, the bushes formed the letters MP. To brighten up the math building, the girls placed painted flower pots in the rooms. Throughout the year the students maintained several projects that ranged from helping the Math and Business Departments to writing soldiers in Viet Nam. The two money making projects of the year were selling stationery and MP pillows at the carnival.

International Relations Attend Lecture

Myers Park's International Relations Club was formed to promote understanding of foreign countries and their people by learning their culture. Regular meetings were held in the student lounge and dinner meetings were held at Honey's Restaurant. Foreign exchange students spoke on the exchange student program at one meeting for people interested in going abroad. The International Relations Club sponsored a trip to the University of North Carolina at Greensboro to attend the Harriet Elliott Lecture Series held annually on that campus. A project greatly appreciated by the students was the sweeping of glass from the LA parking lot. The final project of the year was the club's sale of Cokes and candied apples at the carnival.

Chess Team Has a Winning Record

The Chess Club at Myers Park has progressed very well this year with only sophomores and juniors competing in meets. The chess team has compiled a record of three victories and two defeats. The victories were captured in two meets with Independence and one with North Mecklenburg. The losses were collected at East Mecklenburg and South Mecklenburg.

Bob Williams, the president of the club, is the team's first board, followed by Bill Dawson, Tom Dow, Tad Rettke, and Conrad Bookout. The Chess Club was formed to promote chess and to build up a good chess team at Myers Park. The club provided fun and competition for its twenty members. Mr. Cloaninger was the advisor of this progressive club.

The Engineers Club, led by president Trip Barber, had a very active and successful 1968-69 program. During the school year, members made field trips to Celanese Chemistry Labs and Humble Oil Company's computer center. The club financed many projects, one of which involved seeding clouds with chemical-carrying rockets. This experiment was successful—the rocket went up one mile and it rained thirty minutes later. The club's project for the carnival involved a "computer" able to answer any question asked. At the close of the year, the club's entire treasury was donated to the chemistry department for purchasing new equipment.

“Help Biafra by Selling Buttons”

The provision of interesting, provocative, and educational service was the aim of the Social Studies Club. In conjunction with their advisor, Miss Jean Whitaker, the officers endeavored to present the club with members of our society who had first-hand knowledge of world affairs. Early in the year Reid Stubbs, campaign manager for George Wallace, appeared. He was followed by Professor James Lovell, who spoke on existentialism. In addition, the club heard a local social worker and the exchange students in a panel discussion. In March the club journeyed to Greensboro to hear the Honorable Edwin O. Reischauer speak on Japan. In April, James Chigbundu, a student at UNC—C spoke to the student body concerning his war-torn homeland of Biafra. The club raised money for the Biafran movement as one of its projects.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America or VICA has as its purpose to prepare youth for leadership in the world of work. The officers of the club were elected from the three vocational classes at Myers Park. Two of the six school officers are also regional officers. VICA is advised by three teachers, Mr. Harton, Mr. Clark, and Miss Russell who also teach courses in ICT, Graphics, and Health Occupations, respectively. During the Christmas season, VICA members raised money for the club by selling Christmas cards. Armed with hoses, buckets and brushes, the club attacked many cars at its annual car wash.

Determined Mustangs Battle Strong

Despite serious injuries and bad luck, Myers Park fought their way to a 4-6 season. The team showed its desire to win by hard-hitting hustle on every play.

The season opened sluggishly against South. Neither team could move the ball well. The Mustang defense, however, sparkled, holding the Sabres to only one touchdown and 165 yards total offense.

In the next game, the passing combination of Quarterback Mark Fellers and End Richard Pearsall helped mow down North, 20-8. Pearsall's performance included catching three touchdown passes.

The Wildcats of Garinger managed to slip by Myers Park, 21-13. An intercepted pass broke up a Mustang touchdown drive to ice the game for the Wildcats.

Undaunted by this setback, the team rolled past their next opponent, Olympic. The 26-13 rout was led by the powerful running of Pike Jones and the pin-point passing of Tommy Land. Jones carried the ball eight times for 129 yards.

The Mustangs continued their drive as they trampled Second Ward, 24-0. Land's brilliant passing tore the secondary apart. Holding the Tigers scoreless, the defense once again proved its effectiveness.

overpowering the Mustangs, 33-14. The Green Wave's victory was, however, highly contested and not easily won.

The team slogged by Harding 6-0 in the pouring rain. The tenacious defense was once again the key to victory.

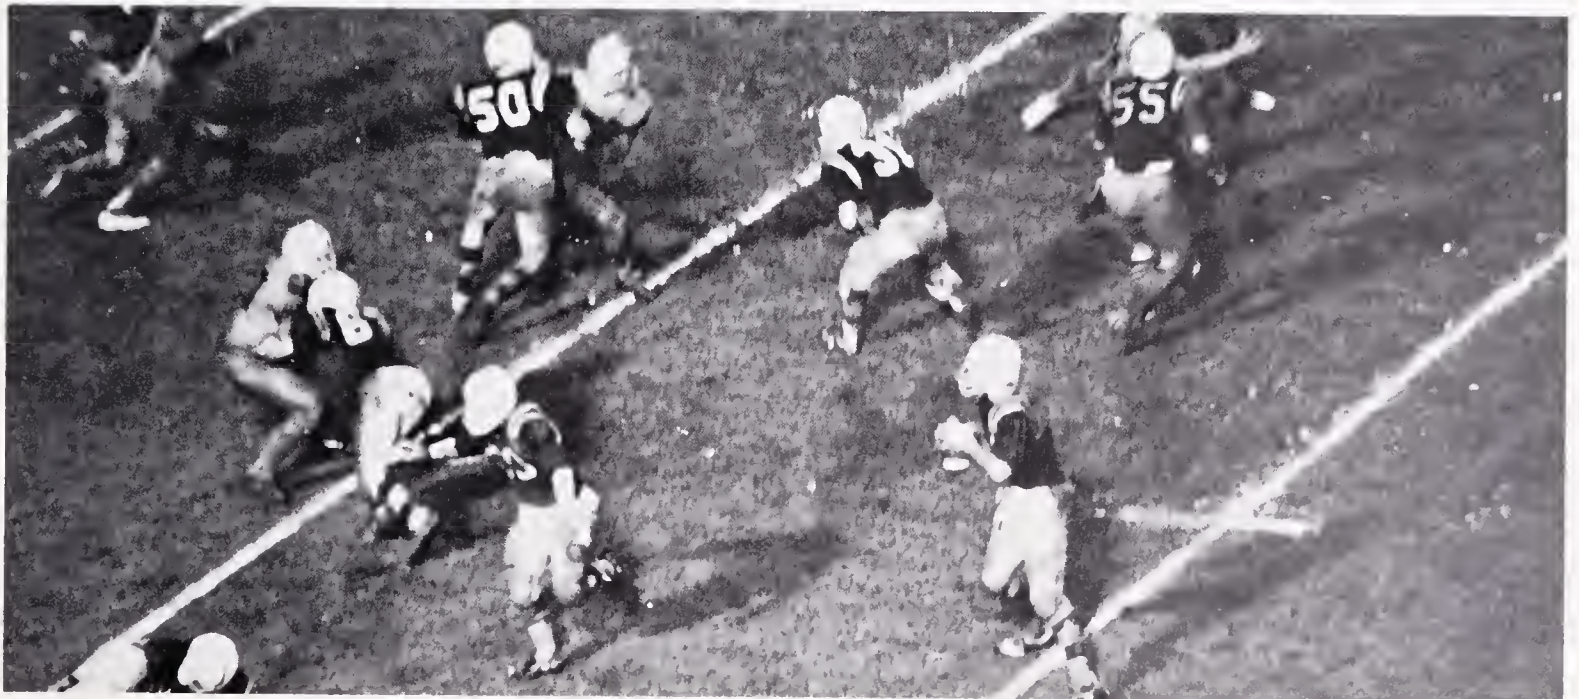

Myers Park's Homecoming was won by East, 21-7. But this loss did not put a damper on the festive occasion, which was topped off by the choice of Betsy Bolen as Homecoming Queen.

In their last two games, the Mustangs fought valiantly, but were defeated by Rocky Mount, 7-0, and West, 21-14.

Injuries and Bad Luck Hinder Team

Although the team was plagued with countless setbacks, they used determination and hard work to overcome them. Injuries prevented several top players from performing. Before the season even began, promising Quarterback Tommy Land suffered a knee injury which kept him out of four games. Junior Mark Fellers did a tremendous job as Land's substitute, but the timing of the offense was, nevertheless, disrupted. Pike Jones also suffered a leg injury which hurt his performance in several games. One of the worst blows to the team came when Rock McClure painfully injured his knee during the East game.

The season produced many fine individual performances. Besides a devastating backfield, the offensive team was boosted by the play of Charles Wallace and David Withrow on the line and Richard Pearsall and Bob Goins as Ends. The defensive unit did a tremendous job, led by Bob Goins, Rock McClure, Ed Clawson, and Tim Ferguson. They held their opponents scoreless twice and to one touchdown in three games.

This season not only produced a unified team; it generated a new spirit in the student body as well as rivalries between the different classes as to who had the most school spirit. This new enthusiasm lent a greater excitement to every game and backed the team's performance under pressure.

Racked with pain, Rock McClure awaits aid.

Bright Future in

The Junior Varsity football team gained valuable experience from their games this season. Even though they had a 3-5-2 record, they seemed to gain more poise and confidence with each game. The team members received little recognition for the work which was poured into each game. They made mistakes, but they learned from their errors. Under the coaching of Stuart Allen, the team showed great promise for next year. They learned the value of unity and teamwork, and the need for hard work which is essential to the development of confidence. The defense did a great job all season. They allowed their opponents a mere 11.5 points per game on the

The devastating offensive attack was paced by the strong arm and quick moves of Quarterback Don Plyler. Split end Chuck Galloway hauled in some long bombs for good gains. Bill Sanders and Drew Pappas paced the ground attack behind the blocking of the offensive line, led by Tackle Chan Hardwick. Harriers Capture

The Cross Country team went all the way this season as they captured the number one spot in the state. For the third straight year the Harriers, under the able coaching of Bill Cloaninger, toppled all opponents in their quest for undisputed first place. Starting in August, the Harriers put in many hours of hard work to get into top physical condition. The more dedicated runners even did extra workouts. The team had the overwhelming desire from the first to be on top, and the grueling hours were rewarded with success.

The core of the team consisted of the runners who gave 100% all of the time. This group included Gary Allen, Les Brown, Mike Caldwell, Don Brown, Warner Sparrow, Carnell Pride, and Gary Gilbert. Each runner produced outstanding performances against tremendous competition.

Rivalries developed between team members for the top positions. Gary Allen and Les Brown fought all year for the first position. Each team member's position was in constant jeopardy. No one was allowed to sit back and relax without fear of losing his position. It was this friendly competition that kept the Striders sharp all year long.

The team opened the season at Garinger, where they scored a near perfect 18 points. Four of the top five finishers were Mustangs. The Striders outdistanced West Mecklenburg and West Charlotte in their next meet. The finish was almost solid green, as the team surged in for seven of the top ten places and 19 points.

This near-perfect outcome would not satisfy the Harriers, as they rolled up a perfect 15 points at Freedom Park. Gary Allen once again covered the 2.2 mile course in first place.

The Harriers then took the Conference and Sectional meets by storm. No team was even close in either meet. Les Brown finally succeeded in beating Gary Allen, as he took third place. The State victory came as the perfect end to a perfect season. The Harriers were once again undisputed champions.

Aggressive Booters Scramble to Second in Regionals

Tom Cruttendon blocks an opponent's shot.

Depth, determination, and unity massed this year to produce a first-class Soccer team. Under the brilliant direction of Coach Floyd Campbell, the team had its second successful season in two years as a varsity sport. Highlights of the 11-3 season included three lopsided victories against Christian, 6-0, 12-1, and 6-1. The team's only losses came at the hands of their bitterest rivals, the East Eagles. All of these games were close, and the 3-2 victory over the Eagles showed the ability to subdue any team played. Playing their best under pressure, the team worked hard to perform efficiently and effectively. The core of the team consisted mainly of the returning lettermen. Versatile Jim Watts and elusive Johan Runius led the team in scoring. Consistent Charlie Henley and Bob Allison aided the cause with their passing and scoring. Spearheaded by Stokes Van Pelt, the defense sparkled, thwarting drive after drive with alert playing. Goalie Paul Stroupe did an outstanding job, as he allowed only ten goals the entire season. The season closed on a frustrated note. The Booters were denied a shot at the State Championship by a single corner-kick. The scoring was tied 2-2 with East, but East had attempted eight corner kicks to our seven. Thus a well-deserved State Championship was narrowly missed.

This season produced another strong basketball team. The Mustangs finished second in an unusually well-balanced division. Any of the first five teams showed the ability to beat any of their opponents. Since the Mustangs opened the season with six straight victories, each opponent was determined to defeat the team. Myers Park played well the entire season, but at the end of the season they faced teams who were on fire with the chance to revenge an early season loss. The team proved their ability when they managed to beat every team that they played in the conference at least once. The turning point of the season came in the first Ashley game. The team had a current overall record of 9-1 which included strong victories over Greensboro Page, Second Ward, and East. Both Ashley and Myers Park were undefeated in conference play. The Mustangs got into early foul trouble as they could not solve Ashley's 2-3 zone. The shooting and passing of the Mustangs seemed to sour. By the end of the game, Stowe Perry, John Austin, and Baxter Hayes had fouled out, taking the team's offensive punch with them as Ashley sealed the defeat, 58-42. in an over-time classic. Highlights of the season included big wins over the strongest teams in both divisions. The East Eagles, predicted as heavy favorites over the Mustangs, were singed 76-70 by the team's hot shooting, with four players in double figures. Second Ward was shocked by Stowe Perry's tension-packed pressure shots, 63-61. Avenging an earlier loss, the team gunned down Harding, 72-51. One of the most satisfying victories, however, came over our bitterest rivals, the South Sabers. Stowe Perry again led the attack as he poured in a deluge of 32 points.

Mustangs Prevail

The Mustangs were a well-balanced team. Offensively, they were led by All-American Guard John Austin and Forward Stowe Perry. The defense was ignited by the alert play of Hoppy Elliot. Dominating the boards, Fred Lapish, Baxter Hayes, and Mack Adams got more than their share of rebounds.

Austin was characterized by his deadly shooting eye and many moves. He paced the attack with his twenty-foot set shots, driving lay-ups, and phenomenal passes. He scored at a 17.2 clip. Unnoticed by most were his numerous rebounds.

Playing his best under pressure, Stowe Perry was a part of the one-two punch of the team. If Austin was heavily guarded or injured, Perry caught fire. He cracked zone after zone with his long corner shots. He eluded most of his defenders with his head-fakes and baseline drives. Although he stood only 6'2, he out-rebounded many opponents much taller than himself with his remarkable jumping ability. His play led him to be chosen to the All-Conference team.

Because he did little shooting, Hoppy Elliot received less acclaim than other team members. But his unselfish play and agile dribbling kept the offense from bogging down. His defensive hustle was apparent to all as he stymied his opponents into mistakes and turnovers.

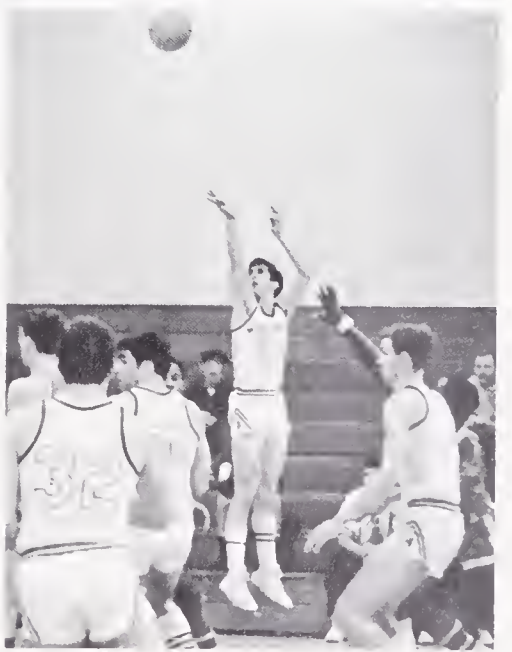

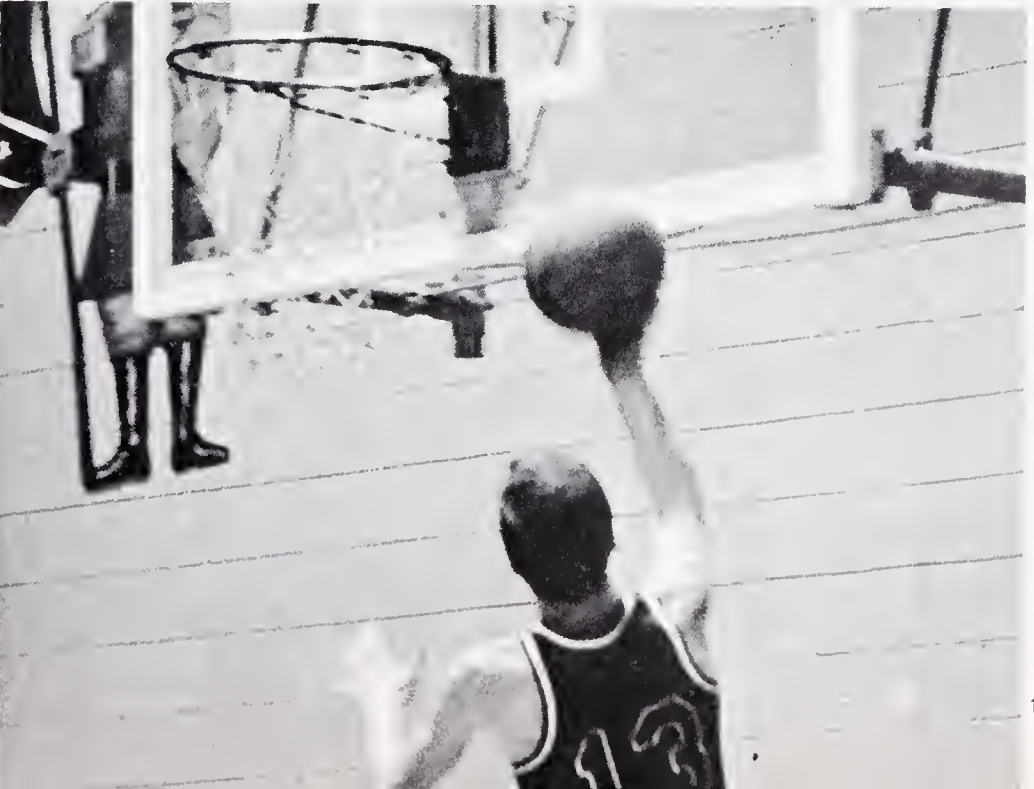

The rebounding, led by Hayes, Lapiish, and Adams, was another part of the team's unity. Combined with the desire to win, this unity produced an overwhelming spirit in the crowd which has never been known before.

Promising J V's Post 16-6 Season

The JV team, which rated low in pre-season predictions, ranked high in performance as they posted a 16-6 season. They showed that they could be a future state-champion varsity team. Led by deadly shooting and rugged rebounding, they raced to third place in a strong conference. The Ponies showed an almost incredible improvement over the season. Mistakes were ironed out. Turnovers were held to a minimum. The plays began to work to perfection. Even the fast-break began to develop more naturally. As the players gained experience, they gained confidence.

They started working together and soon became a close-knit team. Leading the inside scoring was Steve Kurtz. Consistently in double figures and a threat on the boards, he developed several strong moves. Chan Hardwick also added to the muscle of the team. He fought hard in dominating the offensive rebounding. Mark Cherry and Dwight Kempf bombed from outside to add to the effectiveness of the squad. Matmen Roll to 16 Straight Regular

With six returning lettermen as a core, the Wrestling Team had another in a series of strong showings. It had a 16-0 record in regular season competition and finished second in the District. Over the last two years, the wrestling teams won a string of twenty-nine straight matches. This record is a tribute to the skillful coaching and hard work behind every match.

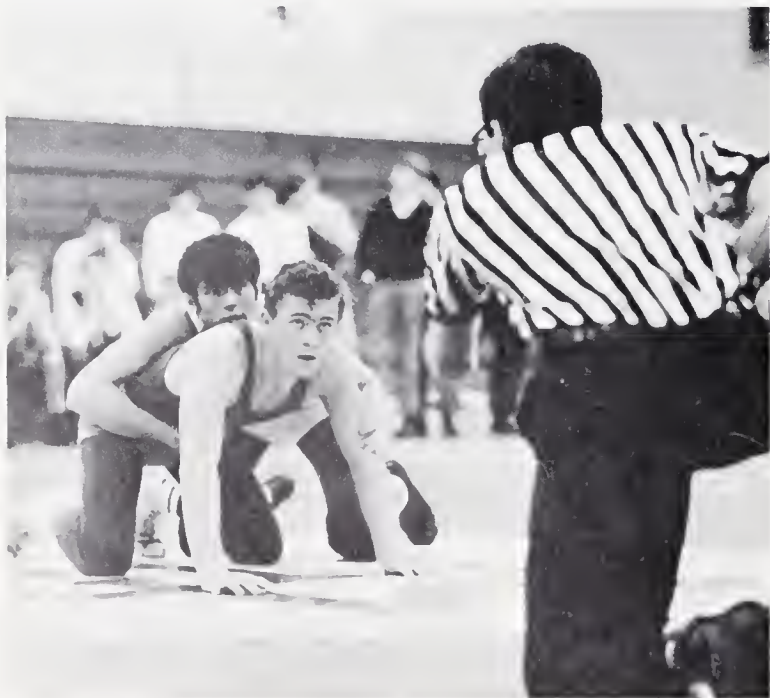

The most experienced wrestlers were, of course, the heart of the team. Howard Widis, Tom Coppege, Jerry Hedgecoe, and Rick Lee led the team to victory throughout the season. Rick Lee placed second in the state individual honors. Jerry Hedgecoe and Howard Widis both placed second in the district in their weight classes. These grapplers performed well consistently.

But there were also a few other members who weren't supposed to do well at all. These wrestlers defied all predictions in succeeding where they should have failed. Ray Watts was a sophomore who placed second in the district. Charles Akers, a junior, was not favored in some of his matches. But he won them anyway. He placed third in the District. David Northey's hard work and aggressive wrestling led him to a strong finish. Without these wrestlers, the team could not have been the success which it was.

The season was exciting from start to finish. There was fierce competition from almost everyone. The team rolled up wins over the best the conference had to offer. It even defeated West Lincoln, the team that took the District Meet. Watauga and Pulaski, two perennially strong out-of-state teams, fell before the onslaught of the rampaging Mustangs. Another strong competitor, North, was defeated three times by the Grapplers in hair-raising battles. The team showed Ashley no mercy in pounding the Green Wave 53-5. West Charlotte also felt the effects of Mustang muscle as they were disgraced into a 59-0 massacre. This year's team was one to be proud of. Experience Sharpens Performance of J V Wrestlers

The JV Wrestling Team displayed an abundance of talent this season. Although most of the team members had had little experience with competitive wrestling, they worked hard to master the fundamentals of the sport. As the season progressed, they began to polish their moves. Coach Joe Peel taught them the fine points of wrestling which, when combined with their natural ability, produced many grapplers who will occupy key places on next year's varsity team. The confidence and finesse which they developed by the season's end will greatly strengthen their performance next year.

Sparkling individual performances led the team to their successful season. Bobby Thomason was undefeated in JV competition. Allen Austin was also undefeated. His efforts included the quickest pin of the season — 32 seconds. Tom Uhl rounded out the lightweights with consistent victories. Chip Stout was a standout in the 138-pound class. At 198 pounds was Ikey Smith. His success on the JV team was so outstanding that he wrestled varsity for part of the season. These matmen led the team to a victorious season. Their future success, as well as that of next year's team, promises to be inevitable.

Depth, Versatility Spark Team Effort

A tense Burr Crittendon awaits the sound of the gun.

Relays were a forte for this year's Swimming Team. The Freestyle relay team raced to fourth place in the State Meet. Swimming in this relay were Ken Skaggs, Teague Skaggs, Ned Fiss, and Kemp Dunaway. Jack Morrow and Donnie Turner joined Dunaway and Skaggs to lead the Medley relay to sixth place in the State Meet.

Underclassmen dominated the individual events. Co-Captain Ricky Prince scored well all year in the 50-yard Freestyle. Leading the Butterfly was sophomore Ned Fiss. The Breaststroke was dominated by Burr Crittendon. Swimming the Backstroke were Buddy Brietz and Jack Morrow who was also the state diving champion.

As a whole, the team had an efficient combination of depth, balance, and versatility. They always gave a superb showing against even the toughest opponents.

Donnie Turner finishes for a strong first.

Speedy Buddy Brietz leads the backstroke.

The Medley Relay team took first several times, plus taking sixth in the State meet.

Mermen Race to 8-3 Performance

The swimming team favorably represented Myers Park in twelve meets this year. They captured the Conference Championship with an 8-3 record and finished seventh in the State Meet.

Versatility characterized the team this season. Most of the swimmers performed well in several events. Loaded with talent, the team was well-balanced and consistent in performance.

The squad relied heavily on its underclassmen. Sophomores were an asset to the team. Jack Morrow collected diving firsts all year long, including first place in the State Meet. Versatile Ricky Prince was strongest in the 400-yard intermediate, but swam strongly in almost every event that he entered. Other successful sophomores included Paul Schiffel, Burr Crittendon, Ned Fiss, and Donnie Turner.

The most promising junior competitors were Ken Skaggs and Bill Campbell. Along with the sophomores, these swimmers hold the key to the success of next year's team, which should be one of the strongest in the school's history.

The seniors on the team also aided the effort of the team. Tim Turner showed his skill in several events. Co-Captain Kemp Dunaway and Teague Skaggs starred in two relays each. Being the most experienced competitors, these members were consistently sparkling in the meets. Their absence will be strongly felt next year, but the upcoming surge of sophomores and juniors should take up the slack.

Junior diver Bill Campbell followed close behind teammate Jack Morrow in competition during the season.

Determination and

This season's track team was dedication personified. Following in the shadows of a long line of champion teams, some of which were the best in the state, it had a great deal to live up to. Many experts predicted a mediocre season for the Mustangs who they felt lacked the potential of a great team. But the team knew they could win, and they made up their minds to do it.

The core of the team began working before Christmas with indoor track. They worked for three months before their first outdoor meet, when they showed the results of their labors by defeating Independence and Second Ward by a 39-point margin. But Coach Stuart Allen was not satisfied with the victory. He lengthened the workouts and shuffled the team around, seeking the best possible combination. Realizing that city-wide opposition would be no indication of fierce competition of a state meet, he continued to push the team to work hard. The Mustangs went on to win their next eleven meets. Highlights of the season included big wins in the Duke-Durham Relays and in the Queen City Relays. The team finished a very close second to Fayetteville in the state meet, which was held at Fayetteville.

At the start of the 180-yard low hurdles, Dennis Griffin and John Davis sprint out of the blocks and concentrate on clearing the first hurdle.

Baseball Team Compiles 14-7 Year

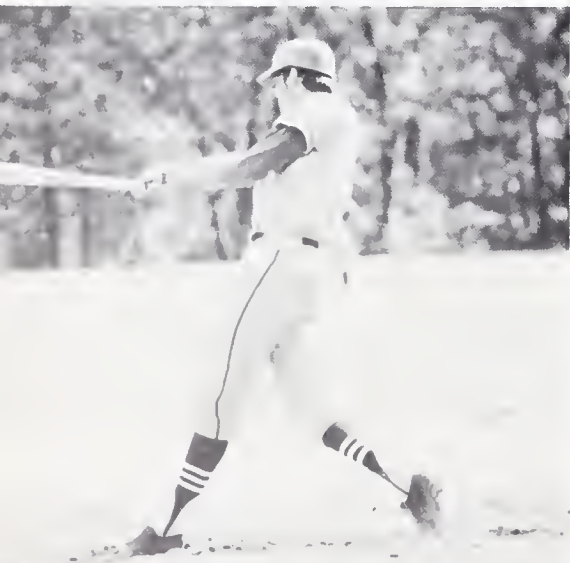

After getting off to a slow start, the Mustang baseball team suddenly developed into a winner. The team finished with a 14-7 record, despite dropping their first three games, and were conference co-champions.

Myers Park opened the season by losing to South, East, and the UNC Freshmen. It looked as if Coach Jack Sink had a loser on his hands. But, when they beat a very strong Hickory team 7-6, the Mustangs seemed to catch fire. They won their next three games behind solid pitching. Their string was broken, however, when West defeated them, 3-0. To get revenge, they bombed Olympic 17-1. Hickory outlasted the team, 2-1, but the loss started the Mustangs on a seven-game winning streak. During their rampage, they defeated Second Ward, 26-1, and Harding, 13-1, but the sweetest victory of all was over West by one run. Ashley recovered from a 3-run deficit to defeat Myers Park, 4-3 to end the streak. The team won its next two games over Harding and North to clinch a tie for the conference championship. In the playoffs, Tommy Land pitched a superb game, only to be bested by West, 1-0.

The pitching staff excelled all year. The combination of Tommy Land, Catcher Robin McMillan added power to the line-up with his steady hitting.

with Clutch Play

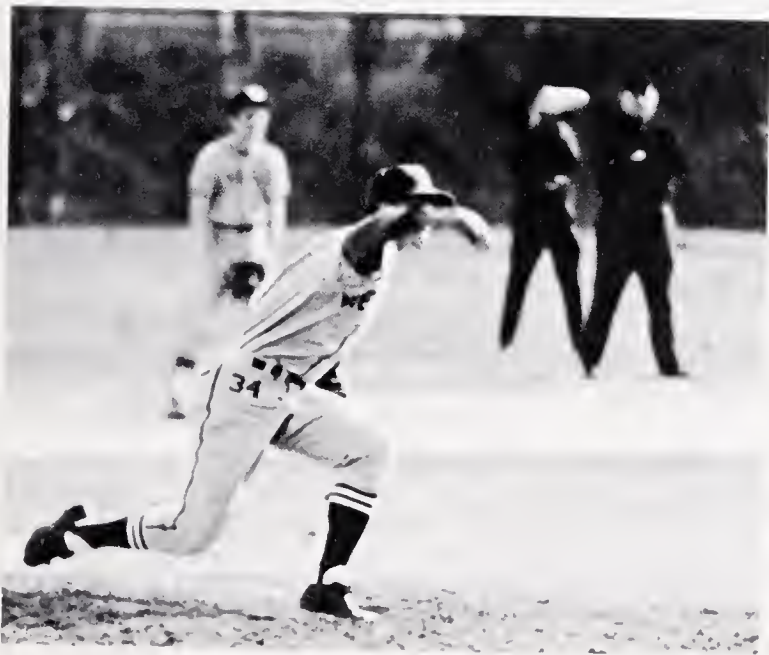

Chip Holden, Brad Biggers, and Marshall Sloan held their opponents to 2.1 runs per game. But the real success of the team came from the clutch hitting and defensive play. The Mustang bats pounded out almost six runs per game. All-County first baseman Lynn Wagner, flashy short-stop Steve Sharman, and outfielder Richard Pearsall hit consistently well under pressure and provided a punch to the lineup which Myers Park has seldom had before. Defensive stars Rock McCall and Jerry Alexander robbed many batters of base hits. These individual stand-outs led the team to their successful season.

Golf Team Captures Sectional First

An experienced Golf Team represented Myers Park this season. Most of the team members were returning lettermen. This experience payed off, as the Mustangs finished second in the division and first in the sectional match. The team then competed in the state meet, where they finished sixth.

The loss of Tiger Jordan, one of last year's top golfers, before the start of the season temporarily weakened the team's performance. Some individual play was superb, but the team play was erratic. As the season progressed, however, the team began to put forth a unified effort. Led by Lex Alexander and Doug London, the team rallied near the season's end to their best play of the year. Alexander and London consistently prevailed in individual efforts. A sizzling 68 by Alexander led the team to its Sectional victory. London, however, was the most consistent in his play.

Backing up these two was a core of steady-playing team members. Skipper Dunaway, Rob Roland, Tommy Ashcraft, Dennis Stanley, Chip Butler, and Randy Keller rounded out the team scoring and made the team success possible.

David Griffin drills in practice to eliminate flaws in his game and fight for a higher team position.

Netters Bounce to Victorious Season

Led by a strong nucleus of able underclassmen, the Tennis Team posted a 13-1 record. This year's team was one of the best in the history of Myers Park. To be one of the top six men, a player had to be one of the best in the state. The Netmen had a fierce sense of competitiveness that resulted from their difficult struggle to maintain a top place on the team.

The Mustangs would settle for nothing less than perfection as they won their first eleven matches. In eight of these, the opposing team failed to defeat even one member of the Myers Park team. In several matches, the hustling team members failed to lose even one set. This achievement shows the grim determination of each of the players.

The number one place on the team was held by sophomore Richard Connelly, who did an expert job of defeating his opponents. The next four spots were held by two juniors and two sophomores—Frank Leitner, Bill Ashley, Doug Bethune, and Artie Small. The only great loss to next year's team will be senior Stokes Van Pelt, the number six man. With the first five players on the team returning, next year's tennis team should be the greatest in Mustang history.

Powerful left-handed smashes by Frank Leitner kept most of his opponents handcuffed. Frank was one of the underclassmen who occupied the top five positions on the team.

The football and basketball tournaments provided entertainment for anyone who wanted to engage in keen competition.

In the football intramurals, many colorful teams battled for first place. After weeks of elimination, two first-class teams prevailed — the LAGNAF's and the Sunnydale Nudist Colony. Able Coaching Helps Myers Park to Myers Park athletics were blessed with a staff packed with capable coaches. Their able leadership enabled Mustang teams to take one state championship, two sectional firsts, and three conference firsts. Almost all of the remaining Myers Park teams finished high in their division. Coach Gus Purcell directed the Varsity Football Team to second place in its division despite numerous setbacks. Happiness is like a crisp breath of air.

It radiates into a sombre place

And enlivens our lives with

Laughter

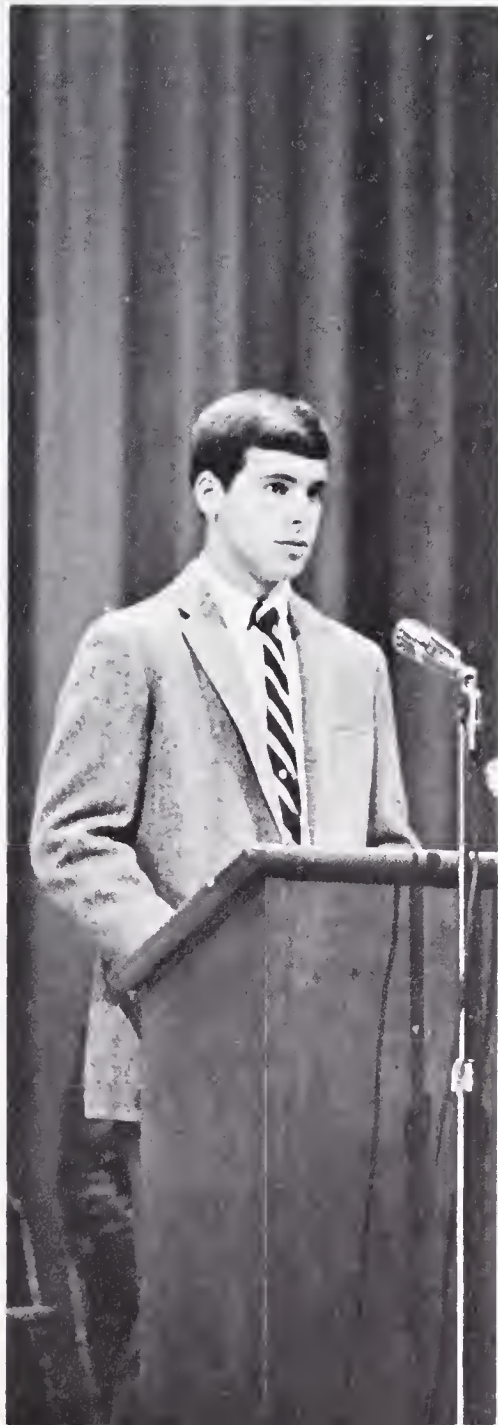

Gaiety

Naturalness

Each and all can share the spontaneity of this dream.

In the brief span of our physical being lie

The "Verities and Realities of our Existence."

In the unity of our goals

Leadership

Scholarship

Citizenship

We find our life complete

*And we move forward to a greater
"Vision of Hope."*

We leave.

Facing the challenge of tomorrow

With heads uplifted and memories ever present

Confident

Proud

Content

Later we will remember what it has been as well as what it will be.

As the year draws to a close, we look back to remember all the things that made our annual a reality—the blood, sweat, and tears that accompanied the feeling of pride, ecstasy, and accomplishment.

Various thoughts flash into our minds—TW . . . “Don’t believe I’d have told that” . . . ’gars . . . Murphy-Mobley Hour . . . Honey . . . Excedrin Headache 366 . . . DeRamus . . . Cokes and Tar Water . . . Dammit . . . Strange . . . Turkey . . . Big Mac . . . Old Frank . . . Smut . . . Paper Feeling . . . Play Money . . . Biafra . . . P.F.’s . . . Wet Beauties . . . Um-Hmmmm . . . Sugar Frisbees at 1:30. These are all intangible ideas that we will cherish. The Mustang Staff would like also to thank and acknowledge all individuals who gave of their time and effort:
